Kentucky Quads 'Doing Fine'

The two-day-old Lasley quadruples were "doing fine" today, Louisville, Ky., hospital attendants reported. John, the only boy and weakest of the four babies, was much better and "definitely expected to live," according to Dr. Burt Zinnaman, hospital pediatrician.

The quadruplets, born Sunday to Mrs. Porter Lasley, 42, on a small farm near Leitchfield, Ky., are in Louisville City hospital after an 80-mile ambulance trip. The quads are, in order of birth, Beulah (named after her mother), five pounds; Mildred, four pound; John five and three-quarters pounds, and Martine, four pounds.

Priority Order Hits Mansfield Industries

PLANTS HERE 'PINCHED' BY REGULATIONS

CURTAILS PRODUCTION

Curb on Nickel, Expected In Near Future, To Hit Other Factories.

Mansfield industries today began to feel the pinch in production as the federal government clamped down on the nation's output of the aluminum and machine tools industries, giving defense orders preference over civilian needs.

Defense production was given a virtual monopoly on the material by the Office of Production Management which yesterday ordered aluminum and machine tool producers to give preference in the future to defense orders and that pending orders must be submitted to the OPM once a month for priority rating.

It was the first step by the government to interfere with private industry to obtain its needs for defense.

One Mansfield industry has already curtailed production due to the shortage of aluminum and two others using nickel and machine tools are studying the use of substitute materials.

With the decision to give defense production mandatory, priority users of nickel, zinc and stainless steel, anticipated shortages in those materials soon.

For the major portion, Mansfield industries are comparatively small users of aluminum, but officials of practically all plants using other raw materials needed for defense production were searching for substitutes to replace the materials when the output is placed on a priority basis.

Several have already begun to feel the pinch in obtaining these materials and as the result are already substituting enamel in the place of nickel plating.

Filibuster Predicted In Senate Debate Over Aid-to-Britain Bill

Administration Men Ask Quick Passage

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Fresh talk of a filibuster circulated in capitol corridors today as two more senators—Murray (D., Mont.) and Barbour (R., N. J.)—presented their arguments for passage of the British aid bill without further delay.

One opposition senator, asking not to be quoted by name, told newsmen flatly:

"There will be a filibuster."

This senator said that an increasing amount of mail was urging that the bill be "talked to death." And, he added, almost a dozen senators had indicated they would be willing to take the floor for long periods of opposition speechmaking.

Others of the opposition group asserted that no plans for a filibuster were being considered, but Senator Wheeler (D., Mont.) declared that if the administration leadership "tries to push into night sessions we will find means to make our record."

Wheeler said that if the administration did not apply "pressure tactics" the bill might come to a vote by the end of next week. But, he added, the opposition was not willing to agree on any definite time for voting.

Democratic Leader Barkley reported that he had been having conversations with senators on both sides in an effort to expedite the legislation and that he was working out a program which he believed would be generally satisfactory.

There was continued talk of amendments, and Senator McNary (R., Ore.), the minority leader, was reported to be urging the administration leadership to accept two restrictions. One would prohibit any further transfer of naval vessels and the other would state that the bill conferred no authority for sending troops out of this hemisphere.

Murray and Barbour, in speeches prepared for senate delivery, declared that enactment of the Brit-

Bombers Pelt Brest, Attack Nazi Cruiser

Watchers Report Planes in Perfect Formation; Most Powerful Bombs Of War Used; Germans Claim Enormous Sinking Toll.

(By International News Service)

LONDON—For the second time in twelve hours, Royal Air Force bombers today lashed out against German invasion bases and the channel ports where Adolf Hitler has based the submarines and warships with which he now hopes to crush Britain.

Soon after an official communique told of a devastating night raid on Brest in an effort to put a 10,000 ton German cruiser out of commission watchers along the southeast coast told of large numbers of R. A. F. bombers speeding across the channel on missions of destruction.

The bombers swept out over the southeast coast toward the invasion ports in close and perfect formation. It was obvious the R. A. F. was carrying out the attacks on an extensive scale.

Once out over the channel, the planes split up fanwise and headed toward the opposite coast at different angles. A haze prevented a view of the French coast.

Observers were unable to estimate the exact number of planes involved, but at least 60 were counted as the craft roared overhead for ten minutes, bound for attacks in the face of previously reported furious anti-aircraft fire.

Docks at Brest were heavily attacked, the air ministry said. The Briti assault was carried out while German raiders bombed scattered sections of east Anglia, killing 10 persons, injuring many more and causing considerable damage in one town.

The air ministry said the bombers that attacked the Brest docks used by German naval units dropped very heavy loads of high explosives which fell in the area where the cruiser of the Admiral Hipper class was berthed.

Some of the bombs were among the most powerful used for a target of this kind, the ministry stated.

The raid on Brest lasted nearly two hours. The port was heavily defended, the ministry said, and British planes had to penetrate a fierce barrage of anti-aircraft fire.

The British raid on Brest was the 41st of the war and the fifth attack the French "invasion port" has suffered in six nights.

British quarters expressed special satisfaction over last night's attack on Brest, which was deliv-

Richland's Draftees Will Go to 11 States

Ohio's Mobilization Director Lists Changes to be Effective March 1; 25 To Leave City This Week.

A majority of Mansfield's future soldiers will be shipped to replacement camps in Kansas, Virginia, Illinois, New Jersey, Maryland, Wyoming, Missouri, Texas, North Carolina, South Carolina and Oklahoma between now and mid-April, a United Press dispatch from Columbus disclosed today.

At present, most selectees here are being sent to Camp Shelby, Miss.

Ohio selectees summoned after March 1, with a few exceptions, will be divided into two sections for induction periods, Lieut. Col. M. M. Montgomery, Fifth Corps Area mobilization director at Fort Hayes announced.

"During the first three months the army will instruct the men in individual, basic and elementary military rudiments just like a football coach would do in preparation for his schedule," he said. "After that, the individuals will be assigned to specific arms of the service where they will work as a unit."

Fort Hayes officials emphasized that consideration could not be given to individual request for assignments to specific areas.

NAZIS OCCUPY SOFIA RESORT

(By United Press)

SOFIA, Bulgaria—German staff officers have taken over the entire resort of Tcham Koria, 43½ miles from Sofia, as a base for operations, it was reported in diplomatic quarters today as the British legation burned confidential documents, removed others and started to evacuate women and children in expectation of a Nazi invasion.

(Budapest reported that German road building experts had started an intensive overhauling of the Bulgarian road system to facilitate troop movements, taking advantage of a thaw. For weeks snow made road work impossible. The Germans were said to be concentrating on north-and-south roads, toward the Turkish and Greek frontiers, to be using Bulgarian labor.)

Officials denied the Germans had taken over Tcham Koria, but refused permits to visit the resort.

According to information from other sources the Germans have taken over all of the approximately 200 villas, owned by rich Bulgarians, in the resort and King Boris' own villa. Germans have practically taken over Sofia's largest hotel.

British Minister G. W. Rendel, asked when diplomatic relations

13 Motorists Arrested On Highways Near Mansfield

State highway patrolmen cited 13 drivers into Mansfield district courts today as they continued their drive to curb speeding and reckless driving on the highways.

Seven of the offenders were charged with speeding, one was accused of reckless driving, and five were charged with failure to observe stop signs when driving on state routes from side roads.

Pleading guilty to charges of speeding when arraigned in municipal court today, Sidney Lazier, 36 North Diamond street, and Fred Greene, Bell street, each was fined $10 and costs.

Fined $2 and costs when they pleaded guilty to charges of failing to observe stop signs were John H. Kunkle, Mansfield, R. D. 2; James E. McClellan, Mansfield R. D. 5; Arthur R. Myers and Herbert G. Fraley, both of Bellville R. D. 2; and Joseph S. Bauer, Mansfield R. D. 5.

James D. Sloan, 49, Niles, was arrested last night on route 42 by state highway patrolmen on a charge of speeding. He was taker before Justice of the Peace J. H. Armstrong, Ashland, and fined $25 and costs.

Robert R. Stetson, 32, East Cleveland, arrested yesterday on U. S. Route 42 by state highway patrolmen on a charge of speeding, was fined $10 and costs in Mansfield Municipal court.

Darwin L. Bross, 19, Howard R. D. 2, arrested yesterday on U. S. Route 42 by state highway patrolmen on a charge of speeding, was fined $10 and costs by Justice of the Peace J. H. Armstrong, Ashland.

Robert E. Gaines, 34, Mt. Vernon, was arrested on a charge of speeding yesterday on U. S. Route

2,000 Are Facing Suspension Of Garbage Service

Approximately 2,000 Mansfielders are going to be without garbage service Monday unless their first quarter bills are paid this week. Fred E. Lingafelter, secretary of the water, sewer and garbage departments warned today.

With the collection period scheduled to close at 4 p. m. today, Lingafelter said that only about 45 per cent of the bills had been paic.

Of the $8,100 billing that went out to the customers of the municipal garbage service Feb. 15, only $3,500 was taken in at the close of Monday's collections.

Lingafelter said that delinquent lists, representing unpaid accounts, would be prepared within the next two days and would go to collectors Monday for suspension of service.

ASKS FOR RAISE

Mayor Wants Council To Hike Pay of Plumbing Inspector.

Mayor William J. Locke today made a personal plea to city council for a salary increase for Plumbing Inspector Fred Haag.

In a letter to council's finance committee, the mayor requested council at its March 4 meeting to consider the salary increase or the alternative of purchasing an automobile for the inspector's use.

Submitted with recommendations of Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner, the request pointed out that the city has purchased automobiles for other workers in the health department.

Locke said that Haag's salary was $2,000 annually and that he was allowed $240 for traveling expenses, using his own car.

CHICAGO —(AP)— Mark this down and underline it: Joseph Raphael likes his wife's cooking.

In the 58 years that they have been married, Raphael says, he never has eaten a meal that wasn't prepared by his wife. And that is a lot of meals—upwards of 50,000.

Tempers Sentences Of Trio, They'll Be In Jail Week-Ends

Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch tempered justice with mercy yesterday, ordering the release of three men within an hour after he had sentenced them to terms of 10 days each in the county jail on charges of assault and battery.

The court altered the sentences after hearing the pleas of the defendants that their families would be without means of support if they had to serve the time in jail.

So Judge Kalbfleisch ordered the three men, Salvatore J. Gloriosa, jr., 108 North Adams street; Edward Macheski, 127 Purdy street, and Orie L. Selver, 84 Park avenue east, to serve the sentence during week-ends.

The trio was ordered to report at the county jail at 6. p. m. every Saturday for the next five weeks. They are to be released at 7 a. m. each Monday.

Action in all cases was brought by the wives of the men who accused their husband of striking them during family arguments.

SEIZE 'FLASH'

Policeman Captures Bandit at Point of Pistol.

COVINGTON, Ky. —(U.P.)— William Davidson, northern Kentucky's "flash" bandit, was behind bars again today in the Covington jail from which he escaped last week.

The quick-witted outlaw was captured at pistol point yesterday in the home of his grandmother in nearby Bellevue, Ky. Acting on a tip, four Bellevue policemen surrounded the house and Chief Edwards knocked on the door.

Davidson dashed from the house and ran toward a wooded area outside. Patrolman Daniel Shea threatened to soot him unless he stopped running. Davidson halted and remarked: "I'm so 'hot' I figured that guy would shoot."

FRESH INSULTS?

Germans Say Americans Likely to Get Chance at More 'Advice'

BERLIN—(AP)—Americans who failed to take advantage of the German propaganda ministry's offer last week to accept collect messages for radio request numbers may have another oportunity.

"It is not impossible," authorized sources said today, that the stunt may be tried again. They said about 5,600 telegrams received up to last Saturday midnight were being studied with a view to filling requests already sent.

VOLUNTEERS

Vic Donahey, jr., Seeks Service With Army For One Year.

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—Vic Donahey, jr., 27, whose father cast his ballot in the U. S. senate in opposition to the selective service act last fall, will enlist in the army for one year as a volunteer.

The son of the former Ohio governor and senator has been notified of his acceptance as a selectee.

PASTOR DIES

WASHINGTON C. H. — (AP) — Father Thomas E. N. Fogerty, 68, pastor of St. Colman's church here for 33 years, died last night.

FREE IMPOUNDED GAS RATE CASH

Ohio Fuel And City of Columbus Settle 16-Year Dispute.

COLUMBUS — (AP) — An agreement between city council and the Ohio Fuel Gas company to settle their 16-year fight over a 40-cent gas rate ordinance will release about $1,400,000 in impounded money to gas users here between 1925 and 1927, councilmen said.

The company will get about $439,000 and $100,000 will go for court costs and distributing expense. The money represents part of the difference between the ordinance rate and a sliding scale of 55, 65 and 75 cents a cubic foot charged by the company.

GOING UP

Hairdressers Say Locks Will Be Cut Shorter In New Styles.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Two hairdressing experts predicted today that the shoulder-length hair-dos of today's glamour girl will be replaced soon by short military bobs.

John Mueller of Chicago and William Boyd of Minneapolis, the two experts, told the hairdressers Guild of Ohio "The extreme, tailored short bob which blends so well with the military clothes and hat styles definitely is the coming thing."

NAZIS REPORT IN NORWAY

BERLIN —(INS)— A German radio announcer today urged all soldiers on leave from stations in Norway to report immediately to the nearest military headquarters.

REOPENING SEEN

Cleveland Mayor To Sign Bill For Sewage Plant Charge.

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Reopening of sewage treatment plants after a week's shutdown, appeared possible today following announcement by Mayor Edward Blythin that he would sign an ordinance calling for a sewage service charge on water bills of 18 cents for each 1,000 cubic feet of water consumed.

Blythin, at an extremely long council session last night, added he would insist later on a higher rate if the 18-cent rate proved insufficient.

Charges that metropolitan Cleveland's water supply would become polluted following the shutdown were made after the council previously refused to approve a rate of 22 cents which previously was suggested to maintain the sewage disposal plants.

EGGS MEAN JAIL

British Food Ministry Warns Of Imprisonment For Eating Two.

LONDON —(U.P.)— The ministry of food ruled today that, effective March 10, any person eating two eggs or fish and meat at the same meal would be liable to a maximum of two years' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000.

WRECKS 20 CARS NEAR BUCYRUS

Derailment of Freight Train Blocks Railroad Traffic.

BUCYRUS —(U.P.)— Twenty cars of a 35-car eastbound Akron, Canton and Youngstown railroad freight train were derailed and wrecked badly today at North Auburn, 16 miles northeast of Bucyrus. The mix-up halted traffic on the road.

Cause of the wreck was not determined immediately. No one was hurt.

Charles Moore, Delphos, was conductor in charge of the train and Melvin Spencer, Akron, was engineer.

O. K. EXPENSES

Grand Jury Fails To Indict In Campaign Cost Quiz.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A special grand jury which investigated 1940 election campaign expenditures reported today that it had found nothing to justify indictments.

Edward J. Flynn, John D. M. Hamilton, Lammont duPont, R. J. Reynolds and other Democratic and Republican leaders had appeared before the jury.

The grand jury said, however, in a report of the district court of the District of Columbia that it was of the opinion that "there was unquestionably a very large sum of money collected and expended in the campaign of 1940, yet the jury has reached the conclusion that if this very large sum of money was excessive, it was collected and expended so as not to violate the letter of the law."

HALF GONE

British Minister Asserts 1,000 Italian Aircraft Destroyed.

LONDON —(INS)— Italy has already lost half of her first-line war planes, Sir Archibald Sinclair, air minister, said today.

"Since Italy entered the war, R. A. F. and empire air forces have already destroyed over 1,000 Italian aircraft," he said. "Leaving out of account their monthly output, that is half of their first-line strength at the time the Italian air force entered the war."

BACK TO JOBS

Tuscarawas Highway Workers Lose Strike for Pay Boosts.

NEW PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Work as usual was the order of the day for 51 Tuscarawas county highway employes who ended their strike without obtaining requested pay increases when county commissioners cited figures showing they received higher wages than road workers in the district doing similar work.

CORONER PROBES DEATH

LANCASTER —(INS)— Coroner J. D. Dupler today investigated the death of George W. Colley, 36-year-old electrical appliance salesman whose body was found in the Hocking river.

Leaders Agree To $4,000,000 Hike For Local Governments

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — The Democratic leadership in the Ohio senate indicated today that it would settle for a $4,000,000-a-year increase in the city-county share of sales tax revenue.

Happy over house passage of the $2,200,000 relief appropriation, Sen. William M. Boyd, the minority chieftain, said he would appeal to the Republican administration for a compromise on the sales tax allocation.

He expressed belief that the $5,900,000 a year increase sought unsuccessfully by house Democrats was more than the local governments were entitled to receive.

The measure, as passed by the house, carries $12,000,000 a year, which the cities and counties received in 1939 and 1940. Should the senate Republicans insist upon holding it to that figure, Boyd indicated his Democratic colleagues would go along rather than oppose the bill, as did house Democrats.

The relief appropriation, reimbursing cities and counties for part of their 1940 expenditures for the needy, returns to the senate for

Two Bombers Missing; Crash On Pacific Flight Reported

(By Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—Two small U. S. navy bombing planes, each with two men aboard, were missing today on a training flight, and the sheriff's office said it had received reports which the navy refused to confirm that the craft had crashed, with wings locked, into the Pacific ocean north of here.

Without success, powerful searchlights from a destroyer and a coast guard patrol boat swept the sea between Carlsbad and Encinitas in a drizzling rain. The cutter reported to coast guard headquarters here by radio that a search a mile offshore had yielded no clue and daylight was awaited.

Four youths, coon hunting near Carlsbad, told a deputy sheriff there that they saw what appeared to be a flaming plane or planes ride toward the water in a power dive and a few moments later heard an explosion.

At the naval base, officers declined to release names of the men aboard the bombers or discuss the reports. The ships vanished last night.

STOCKS RESUME MILD CLIMB ON MARKET TODAY

Douglas Aircraft Leads Trend as Oils, Coppers Stay Nearly Stagnant.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Stocks took another step on the recovery path in today's market although buying vigor still was far from pronounced.

Douglas Aircraft, again buoyed by its record earnings figures, registered the widest advance among leaders.

Oils, rubbers and coppers did little either way.

Bonds and commodities exhibited mild rising tendencies.

Sentiment was aided somewhat, brokers said, by revived hopes for passage of the amended excess profits tax bill introduced in the house yesterday.

Further confirmation of the industrial swing was seen by market analysts in the statement of Federal Reserve member banks in 101 cities for the week ended Feb. 19 disclosing an increase of $44,000,0000 in commercial, industrial and agricultural loans.

Much interest was expressed in the announcement of the treasury of a refunding offering of $1,200,000,000 in bonds and notes, both of which will be fully taxable.

Your Federal Income Tax

NO. 25

Depreciation Allowances.

The amount to be receovered by depreciation is the cost of the property, if acquired by purchase after Feb. 28, 1913. If acquired by purchase prior to March 1, 1913, the basis is the cost of the property, less depreciation sustained prior to March 1, 1913, or the fair market value on March 1, 1913, whichever is greater.

The proper allowance for depreciation is that amount which should be set aside for the taxable year in accordance with a reasonably consistent plan (not necessarily a uniform rate) whereby the aggregate amount so set aside, plus the salvage value, will at the end of the useful life of the property equal the cost or other basis of the property.

The depreciation rate of a building is not based upon the number of years it will stand before being condemned and razed but on the number of years it will remain habitable or serviceable, for the purpose for which constructed.

If the taxpayer builds a new building, the period over which depreciation may be claimed begins at the time the building is completed and capable of being used. Buildings under construction are not subject to a depreciation allowance.

If it is clearly shown that, because of economic or other conditions, property must be abandoned at a date prior to the end of its normal useful life, so that depreciation deductions alone are insufficient to return the cost or other basis, a reasonable deduction for obsolescence may be allowed in addition to depreciation. No deduction for obsolescence is permitted because, in the opinion of the taxpayer, the property may become obsolete at some future date.

Sidewalks Provide Safety

Sidewalks such as this provide convenience and safety for all the residents of a neighborhood. Children skate and coast in the street, in competition with automobiles and trucks, in neighborhoods where no sidewalks exist.

Display New G.E. Models

Their styling and design establish new refrigerator beauty. Back of every General Electric hermetically sealed refrigerator is a five-year protection plan.

The mechanism of the new 1941 models never need oiling and are equipped with noise mufflers for quiet operation. The new all steel cabinet, stainless steel freezer and shelves, eliminates warping, cracking or peeling.

Ward's Feature 1941 Models

Regardless of the size of your family, there is a Montgomery Ward refrigerator to fit your need. . . . A size for every family . . . A price for every purse.

New models are combined with the best features at no extra cost. A five year protection plan assures dependable refrigeration.

The new 1941 M-W refrigerators have a new speedy freezer; space for tall bottles; handy Jiffy Tray releases; a food froster; and storaway bin.

Glass Blocks Have Wide Use

Glass blocks are not confined to use in masonry buildings, although they are usually laid up in mortar such as brickwork.

Varying numbers of blocks may be used in one panel, and the glass panels can be employed with any type of wall construction. Most builders suggest that the area in which glass blocks are used should be dictated by the amount of outside light needed and by the decorative effect desired.

A caution to be observed when building a panel of glass blocks is to allow for movement of the adjacent wall This is obtained by inserting thin resilient expansion strips around the sides and top of the panel. These act as cushions and prevent damaging of the panel by any movement of the wall.

Locate Kitchen Away From Sun

Since cooking adds to the warmth of the kitchen, it is advisable to locate the kitchen for maximum protection from the additional heat of the sun.

This can usually be accomplished by placing the kitchen to the north or northeast.

Appliance Buying Problem Solved

Buyers of electrical appliances can solve many of their problems at the Martin Hardware company, 11 N. Main street, where Westinghouse appliances are being displayed.

Most women are enthusiastic about the cleanliness of cooking electrically, Merle Pecht, general manager of the company points out. Because no fuel is burned, there is no carbon, no smoke and no soot to soil drapes and furniture or smudge walls.

Electric cooking is fast, the new Westinghouse units making possible a speed of cooking that was never before possible. Records show that electric cooking is economical. Current cost is low, and there is an additional savings on food. Since there is no oxidization in electric cooking, there is no waste of valuable juices and less waste of food values, Pecht says.

Home Air Units Featured

Science has, at last, found a practical way to solve a vital problem—the proper conditoning of the air in the home, for health, for comfort, for efficiency. It is through the ultra-modern, versatile and higher efficient Westinghouse Home Heating and Air Conditioning Systems, featured by the Chas. Hoffman company, 30 W. Fourth street, and now available in types for every individual need and purpose.

The services of experienced air conditioning engineers associated with the Chas. Hoffman company are available to prospective home building owners, to determine the best type of unit for each need.

With the advent of the complete and varied Westinghouse line of air conditioning units, air conditioning now passes from the luxury class and is now available in all home sizes.

Wallpaper Shows 'Livable Style'

The trend toward the use of wallpapers in new homes was increasingly marked during the past year and promises to be even more evident in 1941, according to J. K. Stonebrook, manager of the Mid-Ohio Wallpaper Co., 111 North Main.

In recent years improvements in colors and manufacturing processes have bettered the quality of even the lowest priced papers. Manufacturers have given more attention to design with the result that many commercial patterns now-a-days have real artistic merit.

Todays decorative fashions call for "livable" styles dating from the eighteenth century. It is also extensively employed in the "modern" manner and, consequently, is appropriate for any style of interior that may be desired.

EVERYBODY HAS THEM

The first man known to have built private bathrooms in his living quarters was a king of Crete who lived more than 4000 years ago. The king's bath was in a room that adjoined the throne room and the queen also had a bath in her suite. A good water supply and drainage were installed in the palace. They had all the comforts of bathing excepting two of the most important — soap and clean towels.

MINIMIZE HEIGHT

Structural methods which minimize height are usually the most economical and result in small houses of better exterior proportions than when they are high in relation to their width and length.

OUT-OF-SIGHT WIRING

Modern building methods often make it difficult to conceal telephone wires after the house is built. Out-of-sight wiring facilities, which will help preserve the beauty of a new home, should be provided in plans for a new home.

Good Features Are Built Into Neighborhood

The attractiveness of this new neighborhood is likely to be lasting, largely because of the desirable features which have been built into it. Neatly paved and curbed streets, generous setback of buildings, preservation of existing trees, and planting of the grounds provide a fitting complement for well-designed houses. Maintenance is less costly and results more satisfying where street improvements are installed in a permanent manner and their cost included in the sale price of the completed property.

Loans Made For Improvements

The arrival of spring usually heralds the need for new home furnishings, repairs and improvements. Sometimes the ready cash for necessary expenditures is lacking, and many turn to a loan company for funds.

The Mansfield Provident company, 10 West Third street, offers a loan service to home owners and individuals that is personalized to meet every need. Loans are handled with promptness and repayments are planned to meet the borrower's income.

The Mansfield Provident company claims the honor of being Mansfield's "pioneer" loan organization, this year rounding out 25 years of service in the city. "In this quarter century of growth," states H. Amsbaugh, manager, "we are proud of the fact that many of our clients, have found our service so satisfactory that they depend on the Provident company for loans, whenever pressing money needs arise."

MAKE ACCESS EASY

The kitchen, of course, should be directly adjacent to the dining room or, if the house is very small, the dining space in the living room. Access to the front door without passing through other rooms is desirable when possible, as is easy access to the stairs to the second floor and to the basement.

Urges Building At Present Time

To get the most for your building dollar, now is the time to build, LaVerne Henry of the Tinkey Lumber company, points out, "because all indications point to an increase in prices in the very near future."

Factors contributing to the anticipated increase are the growing demand for homes and the rising costs of materials because of war conditions.

The Tinkey Lumber Co. can supply lumber to suit building needs, and also have in stock other building supplies.

Claim 64 Degrees 'Comfort Line'

There has been considerable disagreement as to what temperature is generally thought best for a house.

The effective temperature at which a maximum number of people feel comfortable is called the comfort line. While at rest, 97 per cent of people have been found to be comfortable at 64 degrees, according to investigations conducted by the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers, the Public Health Service, and the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

Persons working at various rates are most comfortable at effective temperatures below 64 degrees F., it was declared in the report.

Loan Service Offered Builders

The Continental Mortgage Co., Walpark Building, has been making home loans for the past 15 years, offering a complete home building loan service.

W. B. Ford, manager, states that business during the past two years has been the greatest in the company's history and expects 1941 to be an even greater year.

Prospective home builders find the company interested not only in advancing the funds, details likely to demand attention before a new home is ready to occupy.

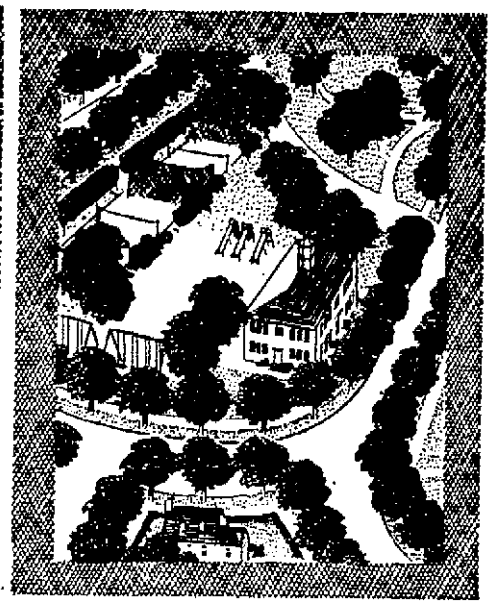
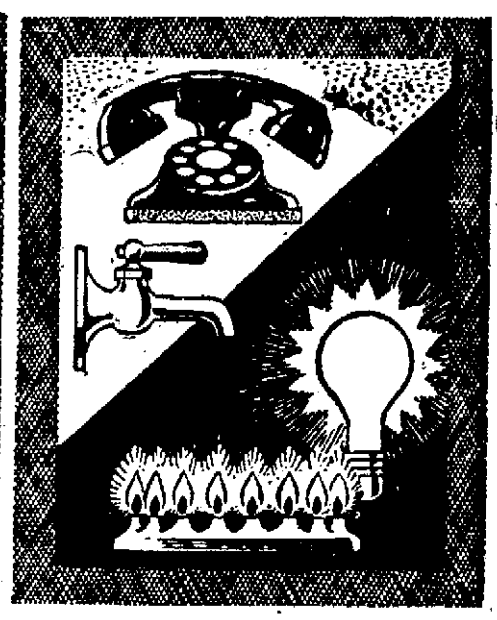
These Are Elements Which Indicate Good Land Planning

DESIRABLE NEIGHBORHOOD—The future safety of the investment depends in a large measure upon the desirability of the neighborhood.



ACCESS TO PARKS AND SCHOOLS—Parks within easy reach of home mean healthful recreation for the children and peace of mind for the mother.

ADEQUATE TRANSPORTATION—Transportation facilities can be as important to family comfort as modern heating, lighting, or plumbing.



ADEQUATE UTILITIES—An adequate pure water supply is essential. Gas, electric, and telephone services should be available.

Has Extensive Lumber Stock

The Lutz Lumber company of Lexington, lumber and millwork manufacturers, distributors and dealers are equipped for every building need.

The establishment is well stocked and are equipped to furnish their patrons with the best merchandise at lowest prices.

They manufacture and distribute materials for building needs and improvements and will assist with ideas, photographs and estimates without obligation. They arrange F. H. A. Loans and render prompt delivery service to Mansfield.

Germany has sent an average of 50 trains of coal daily through the Altdorf valley in Switzerland to Italy this winter.

BEDROOM SHOULD BE DESIGNED FOR MODERN WAY OF LIVING

Practically one-third of the average person's normal life is spent in bed, according to estimates.

Our mode of living which has made the bedroom simply a place to sleep and dress has resulted in the tendency to make bedrooms smaller and to strip them down to only the essential furniture required for sleeping and dressing.

While the bedroom does not need to be large, it should be large enough to allow the individual to make himself comfortable in his own room—particularly in compact houses where there is little other space for privacy.

If bedrooms are not too small, older children can use them for study and recreation.

A saving in the actual size of a bedroom, as well as an improvement in its convenience, is obtained by correct location of door and window openings to obtain maximum wall space for furniture. Design of the room and the relationship of wall openings and wall spaces should permit an arrangement of furniture which does not require walking around a bed in order to reach the bedroom entrance door, closet, and dresser.

Another point to be kept in mind is separating the bedroom from the rest of the house and removing it as far from street noises as possible. In general, it might be said, a bedroom should be located in a corner, thus providing for two exposures and cross ventilation.

As to painting the bedroom, paint stylists suggest the use of one color only — but in all its shades from pale to deep tones.

Naturally the size, shape, and coloring of all bedrooms will be determined to a great extent by the kind of house one builds, the size of the lot, and the location of the house on the lot, but the individuality can easily be incorporated in any bedroom plan if the ideas are konwn far enough in advance by architect or builder.

Most plastic paints can be applied to any surface, either new or old, to which paint or varnish will adhere. This type of paint is highly flexible and properly applied should not flake or peel.

Plaster Crack Causes Are Defined

Cracks in plaster ceilings of new homes may be traced to one or several faults.

Cracked ceiling plaster is often the result of using second floor joists of insufficient depth to have the required stiffness or the omission of floor joist bridging.

When too small, joists invariably sag under the weight of furniture and people and cause cracking of the plaster and unsatisfactory floors. Bridging of wood or metal placed betwen the joists at intervals of about eight feet assists in the prevention of ceiling plaster cracks by distributing to several joists any exceptionally heavy concentrated loads or sudden jolts that may be applied directly above one or two of them.

Proper bracing of the structural frame to resist vibrations and doubling of floor beams under partitions and around floor openings are important precautions against ceiling cracks. The use of unseasoned lumber, which shrinks in the process of drying out, may also contribute to cracking of plaster. Metal lath strips used in the angles between ceilings and walls reduces the tendency for cracks to develop at that point.

Another important cause of plaster cracks, which is probably more often noticed in the walls than in the ceiling, is settlement due to inadequate footings. Improper application of plaster backing, such as wallboard or laths, is sometimes responsible.

Floor Coverings Have Variety

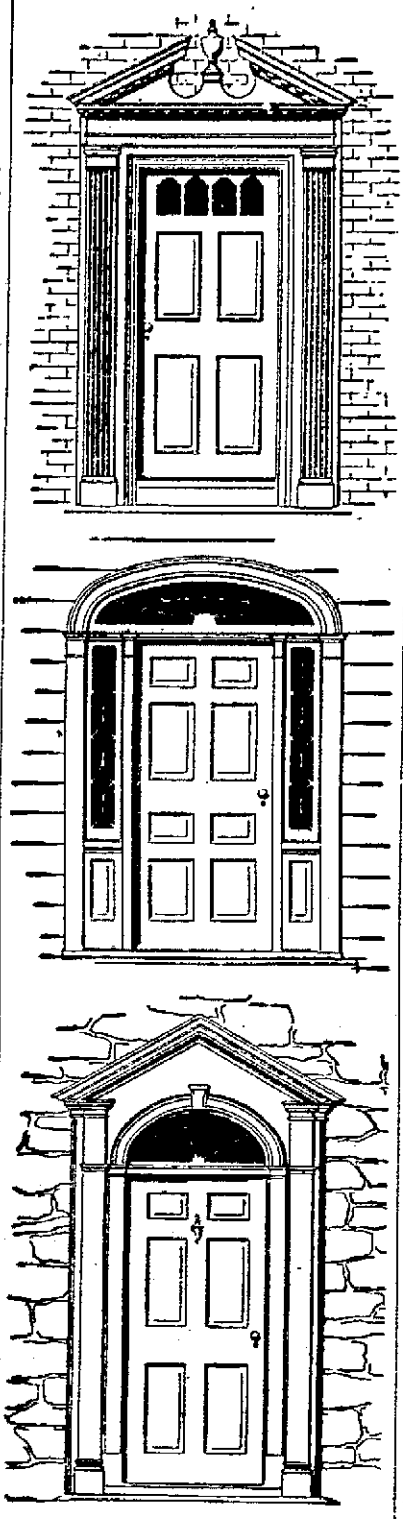
The Mansfield Rug and Linoleum company, 110 North Main street, specializes in floor coverings for every room in the home.

Complete selections, displayed for easy choosing, feature a wide variety of patterns and colors in carpets, rugs and linoleums, and color schemes may be studied and analyzed at the store before selections are made.

Every installation is made by the store's own factory-trained workmen, assuring a correct fit and permanency.

Of special interests are the display booths, showing the use of the new wall linoleums. Henry F. Brinkman, owner of the store, and Richard Vaughn, manager have had many years of experience in solving floor covering problems in Mansfield and vicinity.

Colonial Influence



The Colonial influence is shown in these three doorways, all variations of Early American design. These doorways, stately and attractive when used with homes of proper architectural design, will be very much out of keeping with a French Renaissance structure or a dwelling with a roof of Spanish tiles.

Spanish railways are not standard European gauge.

Drapes Lend To Color

Spring "comes through the windows" when they are enhanced by colorful, correctly chosen curtains and draperies, as are now featured in a display at Scattergood's.

There are new floral patterns, stripes and plain colors, in variety, permitting the widest latitude in the selection of either contrasting or harmonizing shades, for distinctive drapes or slipcovers.

Scattergood's welcome the opportunity to assist the housewife in the correct and satisfactory solution of all springtime drapery and slipcover problems.

FLUSH-SURFACE DOORS

The use of flush-surfaced doors on kitchen cabinets and cupboards will expedite the housewife's work of keeping the room spick and span. The old type of paneled door frequently gathered dust and dirt, and was harder to clean.

Modern Process Keeps Cellar Dry

The Waterproof system, which eliminates wet basements, is a process discovered and patented by Wick Bowser, 668 Springmill street.

Waterproof is applied directly to the inside of basement walls and is guaranteed to stop water seepage into basements. It makes the basement as dry as any room in the house.

Hundreds of homes in Mansfield have already been Waterproofed and Bowser extends an invitation to inspect these Waterproofed basements.

Wallpaper, Like Fashion, Changes

Fashions in wallpaper, like fashions in clothes, change from year to year, according to Mr. M. J. Cole, manager of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company, 28 South Park street.

There is a definite trend towards patterns that have dignity plus imagination—a new version of colonial designs that are suitable for the home.

Imperial papers as an example, are made washable and fast to light so their beauty will endure and you need have no fear of extravagance, when you decide to use them in your home. Stripes, with an incredible number of variations, have revived a fashion that was at its height in the early eighteen-hundreds.

Home Building Made Easy

Just two years ago the Home Materials company announced the formation of the Mansfield Housing Guild with headquarters at their offices at 154 Orange street. Today scores of Mansfielders are enthusiastic in their appreciation of the sound advice, unlimited information, and practical suggestions they received on embarking on their greatest adventure—the building of a new home.

Plans, specifications, and accurate estimates of the price per month on attractive homes have been set up so that a prospective home builder can readily see just how much home his circumstances will permit him to own.

Realizing that many people are not familiar with the procedure necessary to the securing of proper financing for a home or home improvement, the guild has arranged to take this burden off the home owners shoulders. Loans are secured through local building and loans, banks, representatives of large insurance companies, and through financing as set up by the Federal Housing Act.

Modern Fixtures Do Double Duty

Gone are the days of dull, dark, sight-straining rooms — today's homes are wired to provide tested illumination for reading, sewing, or just plain "setting," according to A. R. Anthony and Paul Snyder, co-owners of the National Electric company, 74 North Walnut street.

Today's fixtures not only provide sight-saving light, they also add beauty and charm to the home. Possibilities of decoration with light are innumerable, and the National Electric company keeps a stock of lights that will enable any home owner to select fixtures that will fit in with a room of any period.

In addition, the company maintains a staff of technicians who will plan home wiring for the home owner so that he can have sufficient outlets for maximum convenience in the use of today's step-saving, back-saving electrical appliances.

LINOLEUM WALL FINISH

Linoleum wall coverings are recent innovations in house interiors. When properly installed they have the advantage of high durability, and are easily cleaned.

HOME LOCATION CONTAINS WIDE RANGE OF IMPORTANT FACTORS

Every home owner would like to think that the location of his home contains the quality known as appeal.

Just what factors make up appeal are vague to many people, but certain qualities may be singled out as those contributing to appeal in a location. These include natural physical charm and beauty of location, layout and plan of neighborhood, architectural attractiveness of buildings, social attractiveness, and absence of nuisances.

Certain distinctive characteristics such as rolling topography, pleasing landscaping, wooded lot, and the presence of brooks may comprise natural physical charm; yet this quality could just as well be created by well-kept homes, grounds, and streets.

Geographical position may contribute much to appeal. Broad vistas, pleasing views, and climatic advantages resulting from geographical position tend to attract people to a location. Where the approach is through an unsightly area, the appeal will be lessened.

Attractive street layouts which preserve the natural charm of the land are elements of appeal. Areas laid out in this manner have a tendency to remain desirable for long periods of time.

If the buildings in the immediate neighborhood are attractive as a group and harmonize with each other and with their physical surroundings, the appeal of a location is strengthened. Locations where the predominant architectural design is inappropriate to the community usually lack the degree of appeal which is present in locations of more harmonious elements.

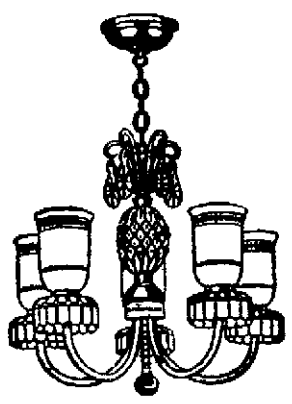
Satisfaction, contentment, and comfort result from association with persons of similar social attributes. Families enjoy social relationships with other families whose education, abilities, and mode of living are similar to their own.

Some factors influence against appeal. Billboards, service stations, offensive noises and odors, unsightly properties, and stables are often objectionable to neighborhood occupants and tend to reduce appeal.

LUGGAGE STORAGE

For the storage of trunks and luggage in the cellar, a clean dry room is essential. However, where it is sometimes difficult to keep the basement dry, racks may be built to hold the trunks or luggage high enough off the floors to insure against damage.

Better Light— Better Sight



Interior furnishings are also more attractive under adequate and proper lighting.

BROADWAY

Wrong Way Corrigans.

BROADWAY is a notorious adage-buster. Every place in the world a straight line is the shortest distance between two points—except on the Main Stem. Here, if you want to be an actress, start out etching pothooks in a stenog's notebook or flipping flapjacks in a beanery window.

If you want to be a playwright, try hard to be a professor of botany at a college in Vermont. You yearn to lead a band? Learn to jerk a double chocolate soda.

Almost anybody who is anybody on the Great White Way got that way by aiming at it. They were all aiming at something else when they somehow hit a target over their shoulder.

Ethel Merman is perhaps the highest paid example around at present. She worked hard at being a stenographer and wound up behind the footlights shouting Broadway lullabies into the ears of those with $4.40. . . . Sam Goldwyn is a reformed glove salesman.

Dorothy Lamour operated an elevator in a department store that didn't sell sarongs. . . . Fred Allen and W. C. Fields were jugglers whose patter lasted longer and wore better than the Indian-club tossing tricks. . . . Abe Lyman and Paul Whiteman drove taxicabs.

June Havoc, the wise striperoo of "Pal Joey," started out as a "baby" star—but quickly outgrew it. . . . The Andrews Sisters began their jumpin' jive career as tap dancers. When they introduced songs into their act, they were so successful they cut out the terpsichore.

* * *

Mickey Rooney was just a good character juvenile until one day M-G-M tossed him a role he didn't like—and he decided to get even with the producers by mugging unmercifully throughout the picture.

He did—and instead of winding up on the cutting room floor, he wound up making Andy Hardy, the most popular kid in America, and Mickey Rooney No. 1 box office star in Hollywood.

Virginia Peine wanted to "rib" Moss Hart so she answered a talent call for "Lady in the Dark." She was picked, and now she's started on a musical comedy career in the serious manner . . . Luther Davis and John Cleveland first collaborated when they were students at Yale. Luther helped John frame a letter to his family asking for an advance in the old allowance. It worked—and the collaborators have been getting big money for their literature ever since.

Edgar Bergen, a vaudeville ventriloquist with a corny patter, made out a will leaving all his earthly possessions to his dummy, one Charlie McCarthy. The law journal made quite a to-do about this rare case, and the attendant publicity steered Edgar and Charlie into the Rainbow Room, the world of swank, and the households of America.

Graham McNamee used the word "gasaloon" instead of "gasoline" on an Ed Wynn radio program commercial one night. He thought he had made a horrible fluff, blushed hideously, and went off in a corner—but the fluff made radio history, and announcers have been "gagging commercials on comedy programs ever since.

Sammy Kaye started out to be an engineer but detoured into the swing and sway realm when he formed a campus band. . . . Paul and Grace Hartman once were serious ballroom dancers on a world tour. Their numbers began getting more and more solemn until they climaxed their concert offerings with a "Chinese Apache Dance" which they performed in India. The premiere performance of this dead-pan, dead serious delineation sent the audience into the aisles with laughter. Crushed, the Hartmans packed their suitcases after the show, positive they were going to be fired. But the manager caught them sneaking out the side door and gave them a raise, saying:

The Hartman's have had their tongues in their cheek and terpsichore on the pan ever since.

Hildegarde expected to be nothing but a successful saleslgirl in a Milwaukee department store, but they put her in the music department and she demonstrated the song so well that a vaudeville act of piano players picked her up. Gus Edwards converted her from a pianist to a singer, and European nobility transformed her from a singer into an international chanteuse.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

(First of five articles on what war has done to the American motion picture business.)

HOLLYWOOD — September 1939. War.

"The sky is falling," shuddered long-jittery Hollywood

"The picture business is done for," wailed the industry's Jobs.

"Foregn revenues will be shot," they moaned.

Long keyed to a high emotional pitch by the sheer drama of its all. Hollywood broke down and wept—and then, its big scene nicely played out, turned immediately to a more practical consideration.

Like all the rest of the world, Hollywood asked itself: "How does this calamity affect us—and what can we do about it?"

In this February, 1941, it is apparent that Hollywood has been affected by the war, and it is even more apparent that Hollywood has done things about it.

* * *

DIRE predictions were free in those first weeks. There would be no more million-dollar epics, no more fancy prices paid for stories and plays.

So what happened? Hollywood tightened its belt—and turned out an unusual number of outstanding films to make 1940 a good movie year, and a year noted significantly by the most expensive "epic" ever made "Gone With the Wind."

This film's career epitomized what was to beckon to Hollywood as its "way out"—a spend-to-earn philosophy aimed at luring from the domestic market enough to compensate for foreign losses. "Gone" cost $4,000,000 (before the war) and in a year of pre-releases before tapping the mass market it grossed between four and five times its cost.

Nobody is making another "Gone," but the principle—always good in the industry— is not forgotten. Top productions bring top profits. Hollywood is spending.

But is has been spending with a difference—not for spending's sake, but for results.

* * *

JUST how much the films have lost in foreign revenue is presently unclear, estimates ranging from as high as 47 per cent (in rare instances) to as low as 10 per cent. How much of this loss consists of war-frozen or politically-impounded profits, with a chance to retrieve them later, is also uncertain, a factor to be determined by some financial wizard familiar with all the ramifications of foreign quota laws and restrictions and their effects on the individual companies.

However, most of Hollywood's major concerns showed greater net profits for 1940 a full war year, than for 1939.

ARMY NOW HAS 4,000 PLANES, SAYS STIMSON

Tells Senate Committee U. S. Only Sent Old Material to Great Britain.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Secretary of War Stimson has advised the senate foreign relations committee that the strength of the army air corps is now approximately 4,000 planes.

Stimson's testimony before an executive session of the senate group was made available today by committee members after the war secretary had reviewed the transcript and deleted several passages, presumably because of the confidential character of the information involved. The testimony was given during hearings on the British-aid bill.

The regular army air corps, Stimson testified, now has approximately 3,700 planes and the National Guard, about 300. Slightly less than half are tactical planes, bombers and fighters, he said. The remainder were classified as trainers.

In the course of his testimony, Stimson reported that Great Britain considered her ground defense aircraft to be "in excellent condition without any help from us."

He also informed the committee that virtually all material heretofore transferred to Britain had been "obsolescent, deteriorated or surplus." The transactions, he said, had been advantageous in enabling the U. S. army to order the latest type equipment.

Discussing U. S. air strength, Stimson testified that thus far 1,600 of the 3,200 army planes authorized in 1939 have been delivered. He said that deliveries during the last two years have totaled 2,501 planes, of which 958 were combat ships and 1,543 were training planes.

The secretary told the committee at one point that this country had sold no anti-aircraft guns "to the British or any other country."

Questioned about American transfers of military equipment to Britain after the British withdrawal from Dunkirk, Stimson said that 895 of the army's "old-type" French 75's had been sold to the British, along with 865,000 used Enfield rifles, 24,000 "old style" machine guns, 62,000 "obsolete" air type machine guns, and 25,000 old Browning automatic rifles.

ENDS SONGS TO HEAR SENTENCE

Ohio Youth Gets Life in Pen For Triangle Slaying of His Neighbor.

(By Associated Press)

JEFFERSON—A life sentence in Ohio penitentiary loomed ahead today for 21-year-old Goodrich McCourt, convicted of first-degree murder in the triangle slaying of his neighbor, Andrew Jana, 17.

A jury of six women and six men found the Richmond (O.) farm hand guilty with a recommendation of mercy at 12:30 a. m., after nine hours of deliberations.

McCourt smiled, but made no comment as he heard the verdict. Jail attaches said he had spent the nine hours strumming his guitar and singing with other prisoners.

Despite the late hour, more than 100 persons jammed the trial room in the Ashtabula county courthouse to hear the decision.

Judge Hugh Hewitt passed sentence pending motion for a new trial. Defense Attorney C. A. Lindsley said he "hadn't prepared a motion" and indicated he probably would not ask another trial.

Prosecutor Roland Pontius had demanded the chair for the youthful defendant. The state charged he killed Jana in the belief that the victim and two other youths had been intimate with McCourt's 17-year-old fiancee.

McCourt admitted driving Jana to a lonely gravel pit near Richmond last Nov. 3 and firing a shotgun blast into his body.

Dr. Blakeney was well known here having practiced medicine here for many years and been active in civic and religious affairs. Funeral services will be held in Smithfield Friday, and burial will be made there.

MESSAGE TRACED IN SNOW LEADS TO FINDING OF PLANE VICTIMS

(By Associated Press)

OTTAWA — A brief message traced crudely in the snows of Newfoundland's east coast by the one survivor of an airplane crash has disclosed the death of Dr. Sir Frederick Grant Banting, 49, whose co-discovery of insulin meant life to countless diabetics.

Besides Sir Frederick, the dead were navigator William Bird of Kidderminster, England, and William Snailham of Bedford, N. S. The survivor was Joseph C. Mackey of Kansas City, pilot of the military plane which had set out Friday to take Sir Frederick to England on a wartime medical mission.

The plane apparently crashed on Friday, but was not reported lost until Sunday night. It was found late yesterday by searching fliers who read Mackey's message of disaster.

Ski-equipped planes were sent to the remote region near Musgrave Harbor, about 140 miles by air northwest of St. John's Newfoundland, to rescue Mackey and return the bodies.

Cause of the crash was not disclosed. Weather reports had been favorable.

Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King said Sir Frederick "was proceeding to Britain on a mission of high national and scientific importance," and that as a major on active duty with the Canadian army he was working on medical problems associated with "the speed, height and low temperatures involevd in the operation of modern aircraft."

The possibility that Sir Frederick had made some great discovery was intimated last month by Dr. C. H. Best, an associate in the insulin experiments, who said:

"When the story of his work in this war is told, it will be one of the most marvelous stories of medical research."

TALKS TONIGHT

Major Peck To Give Lecture on 'I Saw France Fall."

Capacity crowds are expected to hear Major Sedley Peck tell his story on "I Saw France Fall" tonight at John Simpson junior high school. The lecture starts at 8 p. m.

Major Peck, who served as head of the American Ambulance Units sent to Spain, member of the national executive committee of the American Legion, major in the French army, member of the Legion of Honor, has seen first hand the collapse of the French army, the refugee push of soldiers and peasants over the clogged roads of the "lost nation" and promises to describe what he saw and felt.

He served in Italy and in Germany as a press correspondent and will tell his audience facts he was not permitted to send over the wires as a reporter.

The lecture is being sponsored by the educational committees of the University and Rotary clubs. A question and answer period will follow his talk. There is no charge for the lecture.

J. W. MORR DIES

Was Third of 3 Brothers To Die at Ashland Since Jan. 1.

ASHLAND — Jacob Wesley Morr, 79, one of three Ashland brothers to die since Jan. 1, died at his home Monday evening following a heart attack. He was born Aug. 21, 1861 in Perry township and had resided all his life in Ashland county.

For the past 35 years he had been employed at the Ohio Fuel Gas company. On Feb. 9, 1884 he married Malinda Shisler, who preceded him in death.

He was a member of Trinity Evangelical church.

Surviving are a daughter, Floy Victoria, at home, a son, Chester, Olivesburg road, a brother, Stephen A. Morr of Ashland, four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. at the Denbow-Baer Funeral home in charge of Rev. B. F. Martin. Burial will be in Ashland cemetery.

GAS FORCES 2 RUNAWAYS TO ABANDON 'FORT'

Hold Out For Three Hours In Cottage, Exchange 100 Shots With Officers.

(By International News Service)

PATERSON, N. J. — Two 14-year-old school boys climaxed a week-end of crime before dawn today by turning a deserted summer bungalow into a virtual arsenal and shooting it out for more than three hours with 15 policemen.

Armed with five rifles, three shotguns and 1,000 rounds of ammunition, part of their three-day loot, the youths finally were routed out by tear gas bombs hurled through the bullet-shattered windows of the cottage on the edge of Echo lake in West Milford, N. J.

More than 100 shots were exchanged between the boys, crouched behind windows and doors, and the police who shot from behind trees. Miraculously, no one was hurt in the wild fusillade.

The boys, a pair of runaways, who were reported by police to have admitted stealing 14 automobiles, including a police car, in the last few days, were Emmett Jones and William Hunter, both Paterson school boys.

The youthful gunmen, who also were armed with five hunting knives, told police that they had gathered their arsenal when they raided a number of cottages in the Echo Lake colony yesterday.

The wild shooting began at 10 p. m. yesterday when police, in response to a call from one of the year-round residents of the resort, approached a cabin where prowlers reportedly had been seen.

A knock on the door was answered by a shot. Police, reinforced by New Jersey state troopers, took over, and opened fire. Finally, the officers tossed two tear gas bombs into the bungalow.

At 12:20 a. m. after three hours of shooting, the door swung open and the police—who expected to see hardened gunmen emerge — were amazed when the two slightly-built school boys walked out with their hands in the air.

BRITISH BATTER NAZI SUB BASE; ATTACK CRUISER

Use Heaviest Explosive of War In Assault on Brest, List Eleven Ships Lost.

ered by the R. A. F. only a few hours after Chancellor Hitler's threat of an intensified U-boat campaign.

In one east Anglian town at least ten persons were killed and many were seriously injured when German night raiders, operating in pairs, dropped flares and innumerable incendiaries and then tons of high explosives. Business premises, a hotel, shops and dwellings were demolished.

British Admit Loss Of Eleven Ships

LONDON—(INS)—Eleven British ships totalling 32,464 tons and one 5,172-ton Allied vessel were lost as a result of enemy action during the week ending Feb. 16, the admiralty announced today.

Disputing a German claim that a Nazi raider sank 14 ships totalling 82,000 tons on Feb. 14, the admiralty announced that of 19 ships in the convoy attacked 10 are known to be safe while four others, totalling 19,698 tons, are not yet overdue.

Mercantile losses for the week ending Feb. 16, the admiralty said, include five vessels aggregating 23,986 tons which are known to have been sunk when a convoy was attacked off the Azores Feb. 12.

Regarding Chancellor Hitler's assertions at Munich yesterday that 215,000 tons of British naval and merchant craft had been sunk in two days, British officials said such claims were "fantastic." They added that as far as is known there have been no unusual British shipping losses during the past few days.

250,000 Ton Sinking Claimed By Germans

BERLIN—(INS)—The stupendous total of 250,000 tons of enemy shipping has been sunk during the past two days, according to latest official reports received in Berlin, the German high command announced today.

This figure included the 215,000 tons of British naval and merchant shipping which Chancellor Hitler announced yesterday at Munich had been sunk in the previous 48 hours. Of this total, he said, 190,000 tons had been sent to the bottom by submarines.

concurrence in an amendment permitting the state to pay the $2,200,000 in one or more installments.

House Democrats fought vainly to require that the money be paid immediately.

The relief measure, subject of five weeks' controversy, went through the house without a dissenting vote. It was passed by the senate on Jan. 15, but house leaders held up further consideration. This caused senate Democrats to withhold support of several administration bills until they were assured the house would approve the relief appropriation, which brings to 50 per cent the state's contribution toward relief costs.

The house-approved anti-fireworks bill was changed in the senate health committee to enable jobbers and dealers to sell $400,000 worth of products already manufactured or ordered for the coming Fourth of July.

The effective date of the measure, prohibiting sale of fireworks at retail and requiring a permit for their use, was set for Aug. 1.

The senate taxation committee approved today extension for two years of the one-cent a gallon liquid fuel tax, which produced $13,629,798 last year. Petroleum interests and the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, contending the revenues were not needed, urged reenactment for only one year, but educational interests backed the two-year extension.

U. S. ORDER HITS INDUSTRY HERE

Government Clamps Down on Aluminum Output; Defense Orders Get Priority.

"high humidity" refrigerator lines, those used in high altitudes and which require considerable amount of aluminum in manufacture.

Company officials said also that increase in prices ranging from $5 to $10 per unit would also affect some other models due to the shortage of materials.

Refrigerator manufacturing, they asserted, was affected principally by shortages of aluminum, zinc, nickel and stainless steel.

The regulations, known as a mandatory prority system, were issued yesterday by E. R. Stettinius, jr., director of priorities in the office for production management. They are effective until May 31, when officials hope that the present aluminum and machine tool "pinch" will have passed.

Defense officials said the order probably would mean hardships for housewives, retail merchants and manufacturers.

"The future will undoubtedly be dark," one said, "for the pots and pans boys and ash tray industry."

Stettinius said the order might "possibly" bring a sharp rise in prices of consumer aluminum products, but indicated that price stabilization and consumers' protective division of the defense commission would deal with that problem.

U. S. Acts to Open Aluminum Plant

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Moving ahead with the government's efforts to meet the existing shortage of aluminum, the interior department today signed a contract with the Reynolds Co., of Richmond, Va., to supply power to a large aluminum producing plant in the Pacific northwest.

The new plant, whose construction will be financed by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, will receive 40,000 kilowatts power from the government's Bonneville and Grand Coulee hydro-electric projects.

The interior department signed a 20-year contract with the Reynolds company which will turn out approximately 40,000,000 pounds of aluminum a year at the new plant. Production will get underway June 15. Later the company will further expand its facilities.

Milk Mixture For Stomach Ulcers

A recent medical discovery now being used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcers caused from excess acid. It is a harmless preparation yet so effective that in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately after it is used. Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion and heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of Lurin from their druggist. Lurin contains this new discovery in its purest form. Easy to take. Just mix two teaspoonfuls in a half glass of milk. Costs but little and sold under an absolute guarantee that it must satisfy or money refunded. Lurin for sale by Weinberger's and drug stores everywhere.

Bill to 'Stabilize' Ohio Holiday Observances Dies In Committee.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The bill to make every Ohio holiday observances fall on Monday, died quietly today in the house committee on organization of state government.

Even a motion by a member of the committee to designate June 1 as a holiday in "observance of the probably adjournment day of the general assembly" was voted down by the house group.

MANSFIELD HIGH WINS STATE HONORS AT SPEECH TOURNEY

Mansfield Senior high school pupils today were proud possessors of the first silver loving cup school representatives have ever won in a speech tournament.

Gene Gump, 12-A pupil, brought back a first place silver loving cup from a state-wide speech tournament in Columbus Saturday. Competing against a field of 300 entries from 28 schools representing Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky, Gump won first in humorous declamation. The contest was held at Columbus North high school.

Two other Mansfield pupils, Robert Mabee and Bill Kochheiser, won fourth places at the meeting. Mabee, 12-A pupil, was fourth in dramatics, in a field of 224 entries. He read a selection from Maxwell Anderson's play "Winterset."

Kochheiser, 12-A pupil, was fourth in the extemporaneous speaking contest. He gave two talks on "More Aid to Britain" and one on "Blimps for Defense." He won his fourth place award speaking on "More Aid to Britain." There were approximately 80 entries in the extemporaneous speaking contest.

Pupils who won at the speech tournament will not rest on their laurels, however. Preparations are now being made for a district speech tournament to be held at Mansfield Senior high school, school, March 22.

Approximately 300 students are expected to take part in the tournament which will represent 22 high school groups in the district. Competition will be in humorous declamation, dramatic reading, oratorical declamation, and one act plays.

Winners in the district tournament will compete in the state finals at Columbus April 4 and 5. State winners will go to national competitions April 24 and 25.

W. W. Mickey, instructor of speech activites, coached the winners at Columbus. G. P. Van Arnam coaches the one-act play group.

The police announced that "in the interest of the security of the state" eight Bulgarians had been interned, including left Agarians and leaders of the Macedonian movement.

On the diplomatic side, well informed sources understood that Russia now made it evident to all Balkan governments that it would not intervene in Balkan events in any way which might cause armed conflict with Germany.

ish aid measure was necessary for American security. Both challenged the claims that it was a "war measure" or that it meant an American dictatorship.

"The bill undertakes to insure us against involvement in the war by empowering the president to give material and effective aid to those countries whose defense is necessary to our defense," Murray declared.

"I think the bill provides the most effective method to keep the country out of war. It will contribute to ending the war in Europe and keeping it away from our country."

Barbour expressed the hope that the senate would "act promptly and with little further delay" to approve the British aid measure.

"We are agreed on the objective—to lend effective aid to countries resisting aggression," he said. "The only issue in controversy is the means to accomplish that end."

Barbour said it was an "inescapable conclusion" that Britain's survival "is essential at this crucial hour to the defense of the United States."

Opposing the bill in a radio address (NBC) last night, Senator Johnson (R., Cal.), ranking minority member of the senate foreign relations committee, declared that "this is a question of war or peace."

If the bill is permitted to pass, he said, the people would find themselves in war "without knowing how you got there."

Alf M. Landon, the Republican presidential nominee of 1936, also attacked the legislation last night in a radio address at Lawrence, Kan. He called it the most dangerous proposal ever brought before congress.

Landon said there was "still time" to defeat the bill, and urged listeners to petition their senators: "Tell them the American people do not want war."

SHOW SUCCESS

LONDON—(AP)—Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair told a luncheon gathering of the English-speaking union today that "the many wrecks around enemy coasts and many half-submerged masts testify to the successes" of the RAF in laying mines from the air.

Emphasizing the intention of the RAF to bomb Germans in Germany, Sinclair said "we grudge every bomb" dropped on French, Belgian, Dutch or Norwegian soil.

SHELBY — Special programs were held Monday night at the regular meetings of Troop 1 and 3 of the Boy Scouts.

A "kangaroo" court was held by Troop 3 in which all members tried are found guilty. Presiding as judge was Scoutmaster Jacque Kaler. Prosecuting attorney was Wayne Vanasdale, while Jack Armstrong served as defense attorney. Assisting the law department was Dick Claes and Bob Thomas.

The court found the Lewis twins guilty of looking alike and sentenced them to wear signs saying Dudley and Gordon so that the troop could tell them apart. Gene Laws was found guilty of not being able to sing and had to lead several songs. Other humorous cases were tried by the court.

Police Chief Leroy Coffey gave an exhibition of target shooting at the meeting of Troop 1 at municipal water company building. Chief Coffey demonstrated various phases of shooting and gave a talk on the same subject. Scoutmaster Henry Betts had charge of the meeting.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1941.

Complaining is not a new trait—some folks did it even back in "the good old days."

If people hated the causes of war as much as they hate war, something might be done to correct them.

There's a much more confident feeling among Orphan Annie readers, now that Daddy Warbucks is back, and has taken charge of things.

Must Be Defeated—Now or Later

WHILE the senate continues debate on the lease-lend bill Hitler and Mussolini take time to make reassuring speeches to their followers, promising even more violent warfare "from April on."

Any idea that the United States is disassociated from Great Britain as an "enemy," in the mind of Hitler, is dispelled by the German dictator's reference to the Versailles treaty, which he termed "the most shameful document of all time."

"The American president," he said, "swore we would get this and we would get that, once we laid down our weapons. We have witnessed how these pledges were carried out."

Except that the threat to democracy is greater than it was during the kaiser's reign, a situation has developed quite similar to that which led to American participation in the first World war—of which this is regarded by many as a continuation.

Minority opposition to the lease-lend bill takes the position that aid-to-Britain is no part of defense of the United States while those who favor the bill believe that whatever help this country can now give to Great Britain will, to that extent, lessen the likelihood of being required to eventually battle alone against the Axis powers.

The principles and policies of the Axis group, its ruthless warfare and total disregard of minorities and small independent nations, makes it impossible to accept the idea of a Hitler-Mussolini victory as tolerable. If this should come about there would be requirement for an entirely new start by freedom-loving people to again struggle toward the liberties that have been attained through centuries of slow progress from virtual enslavement.

When there is more general realization of the impending fate of America, should Great Britain lose, there will be less quibbling about the relatively small sacrifices now being required, and which will later be essential to national defense and greatest possible aid to Britain.

Matrimony Depletes Nursing Force

THE RED CROSS is confronted by a serious problem because its nurses get married off so fast. These matrimonial casualties may decimate a nursing force in no time. The situation that now requires more nurses and longer service is aggravated by nurses getting married and having to be sent home before they've been really broken into the service.

This is the complaint of Mrs. Louis J. C. Bailey, jr., nursing consultant of the national staff of the Red Cross, who is trying to enlist 10,000 more nurses in that body.

"The army," she explains, "asks nurses to enlist for a year's training; the navy asks them to enlist for the duration of the emergency. Both army and navy have so many orderlies that a nurse's work is rather one of supervision than ordinary hospital work. Nurses are given the rank of second lieutenant to start, thus entering on a par with men from West Point. They are admitted to officers' clubs and given officers' privileges. They have the same opportunity of promotion as other officers if they decide to make army or navy nursing a career."

New Use for Autogiros

THE NATIONAL PARK SERVICE is now the proud possessor of two autogiros which were transferred to it from the war department. Regular airplanes have been used for some time to fight fires, transport food and medical supplies to isolated stations, and perform other services in the national forests. The autogiros, although adapted to such work, are to be used chiefly for the health of the trees.

Experiments have shown that the autogiro is the best type of plane for spraying large areas of trees infested with cankerworm and other pests. Because of their ability, under the right conditions, to remain at a virtual standstill in the air, they will be invaluable for precise aerial photography and to spot slow-smouldering fires or other troubles that faster-moving planes are likely to miss.

The autogiro, once regarded by the public as merely a freak craft, is almost daily turning up with new uses of special value.

An Effective 'So What!'

A NEWSPAPER correspondent, now in the United States after some years in China, tells a story which seems to have significance beyond the incident with which it is concerned.

The Japanese military men had been growing more arrogant toward Chinese, British and Americans on the streets, usually making them step off the sidewalk to pass. On the occasion of the story, two Japanese soldiers and two U. S. marines met, and the former indicated plainly their determination not to step aside. The marines were equally obstructive, so that the four men came to a halt and just eyed each other. The observer expected a fight.

Then one of the marines said, with the proper American inflection, "So what!" Immediately the Japanese stepped aside and the marines passed on briskly and peacefully.

Hearing the story told to a lecture audience in this country, a listener wondered whether a firm "So what!" on the part of the United States government might not have a similar effect upon the present mood of the Japanese Axis-supporters.

Vitamins To Prevent Gray Hair, Maybe

THERE'S wonderful news on the vitamin front! According to Science, the official organ of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, which is presumably ethical about it, a vitamin has been found which prevents gray hair, or restores the natural color if the gray-poll doesn't wait too long.

The discovery was revealed a year and a half ago by two Norwegian scientists, to the American chemical society. It doesn't seem to have a name yet, and you can't buy it yet, but that may come in time. This much is revealed—that it belongs in the beneficent vitamin B family.

HITLER'S ONE BIG HAPPY FAMILY

Listen World!

Heading Onward

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

PICKING 'em up and laying 'em down"—remember that old army phrase in the first World war? Today the kid draftees are using it again and maybe thinking it's new. But it isn't new. It's as old as the first line of weary soldier feet that went plodding across the horizon, "picking 'em up and laying 'em down" in the line of grim duty. It's as old as the ageless struggle of the human spirit to keep going since the long trek from the jungle to the stars began.

"Picking 'em up and laying 'em down," step by step, thud by thud, there are times in life when that's all that you can do . . . and you're earning your medals if you do that much. In fact, most of life is like that, Big Glamour Moments being as rare as hen's teeth.

Times when you've had the flu and can't shake out of it. (Just had it myself, which is why I'm putting my heart into this.)

Times when you've gotten so far behind in your rent and installments that you expect you'll be out on the street by 2 a. m. tomorrow.

Or you've lost your job complete.

Or the news from Europe gets you down.

Or the wife needs an operation, desperate bad, and you can't afford it.

Or the little kid casts off anchor.

Times when you brain's gone bloocy and you've no more oomph in your spine than last week's platter of spaghetti.

Then there's just one thing that you and I can do, partner, and that's—

PICK 'EM UP AND LAY 'EM DOWN!

GO ON MARCHING!

Go on making the motions, even if you don't know the why or the when or the where!

Go on doing the things that you once knew were decent and orderly and helpful!

Go on keeping the pattern of civilization, even though you've no stomach for it—even though you'd rather break ranks and go off and howl like a timber wolf. People have been wanting to do that since the world began, and plenty have done it. Yet the long march has gone on in spite of them. It has gone on because of the tired, disgusted, bewildered — and usually nameless — ones who have felt neither inspiration nor desire—

BUT HAD THE EVERLASTING GUTS TO "PICK 'EM UP AND LAY 'EM DOWN"!

Which, believe it or not, gets you to your goal as sure and fast as though you danced to a dozen bands. For it isn't the oomph that does it, pal: it's the stuff in the old backbone.

Tired today? Dizzy and discouraged, old partner? Then stop trying to think. Stop trying to analyze. Stop waiting for that up-and-attem feeling to come! Just go ahead, anyway. Do the thing that's got to be done. Think of those thousands of heartsick mothers and fathers and sweethearts who are backing that same defense. Think of the countless dead who were once as warm as they, yet who chose death rather than life that this country might go on!

Then pick 'em up and lay 'em down—

Headin' onward, even though your heart limps.

Headin' onward even though you've no dictator to drive you—

Headin' onward for decency's sake—

BECAUSE THAT'S THE AMERICAN WAY!

New Magazine For Children

With a staff of junior advisory editors which includes Shirley Temple, Gloria Jean, Virginia Weidler and Janet Canter, the bi-monthly True Comics magazine makes its bow under the sponsorship of the Parents' Institute. The publisher is George J. Hecht; David T. Marke, editor.

Though similar in format to run-of-the-mill comic magazines, the new magazine, in full color, confines itself to historic events, past and present, in picture-sequence style. Among the features of the first number are "World Hero No. 1," depicting the career of Winston Churchill; "Famous Failure," by Hendrik Willem van Loon, the adventures of Simon Bolivar, origin of the Olympic marathon, story of the first submarine, the conquest of yellow fever, the adventures of George Rogers Clarke, Lowell Thomas's "Greatest Adventure," first chapter of a "Frontier Fighters" series.

Timely Editorial

They Can't Believe It.

In a recently published travel book Jerome Beatty, magazine writer, explains that he found, in every quarter of the world, a difficulty to make even educated and cultured individuals understand that sort and quantity of personal liberty we have in America.

The people could not understand why men and women, in conversation, on the rostrum, over the radio and the newspapers, could voice extremely unfavorable opinions of President Roosevelt and still stay out of jail and concentration camps, and they looked at Beatty as if they did not believe what he was saying.

Because in many lands it would subject one to internment in a concentration camp, expulsion from the country or even death from a mild criticism of the regime, these people had been led to believe that the same things would happen here. Only those who had been educated in America or who had done much traveling here could appreciate the fact that Mr. Beatty told the truth.—Ohio State Journal.

Labor Morale High In Britain, Hopkins Reports To President

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Since his report to the White House, Harry Hopkins has been just as tight-lipped regarding his London mission as he was over there. However, here are some of the things he has told the president.

First and most important, Hopkins definitely stated his conviction that the British would be able to hold out against the Nazis. He thoroughly agreed with Wendell Willkie in spiking isolationist claims that Britain would crack up, submit to a negotiated peace, and leave the U. S. A. to hold the bag after voting "all-out" aid.

British morale, Hopkins reported, is holding up admirably under the Nazi air bombardments. This is especially true of the working classes. Labor unions are co-operating wholeheartedly with the government in combating the Hitler propaganda that Britain is fighting an imperialistic war.

Tremendously bolstering British morale have been recent successes in North Africa, the visit of Wendell Willkie, plus the prospect of the lease-lend bill's passage.

Hopkins also told Roosevelt that the British army was in excellent fighting form and well-equipped to stand off the Nazis when they attempt to cross the Channel.

* * *

Need Mosquito Boats.

HOWEVER, Hopkins got no request from Winston Churchill that the U. S. send five to ten destroyers a month. What Churchill did request was the right to repair British destroyers and other naval craft in American dry-docks. This has been one of Britain's most difficult problems, since all of her dry-docks are fairly easy targets for air raids, so that vessels needing repair frequently have been bombed a second time or even a third time and have to be repaired all over again.

Churchill also asked that the United States sell or lease "mosquito boats." These are small, fast motor boats carrying torpedoes and equipped to lay depth charges, which the United States has been building at the rate of about one a week for some time.

Churchill wanted them particularly to ward off Nazi invasion, when it comes. Virtually impossible to hit because of their high speed—they can do 50 miles an hour — the mosquito boats would be especially effective against Nazi troop-ships and barges attempting to cross the Channel.

However, the mosquito boats which the United States is building are a little light for the choppy waters of the English Channel, and it is significant that the president already has ordered the redesigning of the stern of these boats in order to improve their balance.

* * *

Peace-Healer Flynn.

SUAVE Ed Flynn, Democratic national chairman, is doing his best to unite warring factions of the Democratic party, which in some states threaten to wreck it.

On his western trip Flynn told party chiefs: "We've all got to pitch in and build up the party organization. I'm willing to go to bat for federal patronage for you fellows, but I'm not going to deal with factions."

In southern California, where the party is split in wide schisms, he proposed that each faction be represented on a strategy board.

Flynn is also trying to work out a joint committee of Democrats and Farmer-Laborites in Minnesota, and in Wisconsin of Democrats and Progressives. Fly in the Wisconsin ointment is uncooperative Phil LaFollette, rabid isolationist and ex-governor.

"Mothers' Crusade"

A LOUD and pushing mob of about fifty females stormed into the office of Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois during the debate on HR 1776. Calling themselves members of the "Mothers' Crusade" against that bill, they demanded an immediate interview.

Senator Lucas agreed to see them but asked that the leaders be shown in first so he could learn the details of what they wanted. But Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling, spokesman for the group, scorned the suggestion.

"I don't trust him. We'll all go in at once!" she fairly shouted.

Senator Lucas finally emerged and offered to shake hands with each caller. However, when he came to Mrs. Dilling, author of the book which implies that the president and Mrs. Roosevelt are tools of Moscow, she spurned his hand and shouted accusations that inflamed the women. They hurled imprecations at Lucas in a deafennig uproar. One shouted: "You dirty dog!" Another: "We're laying for you and we'll get you when you come back to Illinois."

After several minutes of confusion, Senator Lucas finally threw up his hands in desperation and returned to his inner office.

Note—The "Mothers' Crusade" was supposed to be an impromptu march upon Washington, but an editorial urging the march appeared in Father Coughlin's magazine "Social Justice"; and the names and addresses of the march organizers in Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis and Milwaukee also were printed.

* * *

Jesse Jones of Houston.

ONE of the oddest events in this eventful town is the spectacle of Jesse Jones, of Houston, Texas, sending a man to Houston, Texas, to look the town over and bring back a report.

Hearing that Jesse is going to build a tin smelter for imported ore, 45 of the 48 states have sent promoters to Washington to persuade the secretary of commerce that their state provides the ideal location.

Jesse has made up his mind that the West Coast and New England are not suitable, but that leaves a wide field still open, with Philadelphia and Baltimore two of the most persuasive contenders.

Before he will give an answer to anybody Jesse sends an engineer named G. Temple Bridgeman to Houston, where Jesse owns pretty nearly half the town, where everybody knows him and he knows everybody. Furthermore, he knows all about the port facilities, the power facilities, the labor supply, and everything else that could be a factor.

But Jesse must send Mr. Bridgeman of San Francisco to Houston to tell him what Houston is like. After that, Jesse will decide whether to locate the smelter in Baltimore, Philadelphia—or Houston.

Merry-Go-Round.

LATEST issue of the magazine "National Republican," blithely ignores Wendell Willkie, but heaps four columns of praise on ex-Ambassador Joe Kennedy for his fight against the lease-lend bill. The magazine even has a few kind words for Norman Thomas, the Socialist candidate, who also opposes the bill . . . The FBI is advising all plants doing defensive work not to sell their waste paper but to destroy it . . . A local photographer makes a good business of selling cabinet-size photographs of Mrs. Roosevelt at $5 each. The picture shows her in a long-train evening gown, standing in a recessed window of the White House.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—When you spend your time kicking around Broadway and sitting in smoky restaurants talking to comedians, prizefighters, and detectives or hanging around theater doors and taxicab stands, you hear a lot of stories.

When these stories seem funny to me, or amusing, or merely interesting, I pass them along. I intend to keep right on passing them along, though let me warn you here and now that most "new" stories are variations of old themes and are seldom literally true.

A few days ago I relayed the story of the girl at a theater who mistakenly offered some fertilizer tablets to another young woman with an annoying cough, thinking they were coughdrops. This story had been passed to me by an advertising man who said it happened to his secretary. He even named the play she went to see.

No one in this office had heard the story. I always test stories like this on my colleagues in the office. But after I had used it there came a sudden chorus of complaints, and one reader sent me a clipping showing this same story, with minor variations, as it appeared in his newspaper at least four months ago. This time it was a New Orleans woman who had passed the "coughdrops" to a cold victim in a Baton Rouge, La., theater.

* * *

THE gist of these complaints was that I had been guilty of passing along "stale" news. So I went over to see my friend Ed Wynn, who, besides being a great comedian, is one of the world's best authorities on jokes and their roots. It was Mark Twain who said that all stories are variations of only seven themes. Ed Wynn personally has broken down 11,000 stories into 124 classifications, and that, he says, is as far as he could go. When I told him the coughdrop story and asked if he had ever heard it before he said:

"Oh, sure. I could find you 300 of those if I had the time. As related to comedy, it is an off-shoot of the old mistaken identity theme. In vaudeville every comedian at one time or another has used that same story, reduced to a line, as the sign-off to a skit or a scene. For instance, you are talking to a friend, and he goes out. Suddenly, you clamp your hand to your brow and cry, 'Great Scot!' I gave him a pickle instead of a piano!' This and the coughdrops belong to the same family of jokes. You can trace this story to Shakespeare, and beyond."

* * *

I ASKED Ed Wynn if he thought a girl in New York, by coincidence, had figured in such an adventure as related in this tale, or for that matter a girl in Baton Rouge.

"Could be," he said. "But just between you and me I don't think it ever happened in Louisiana or New York or anywhere else. This story has hit its cycle and has come up again. They run in cycles like that. In a couple of years from now when a new cold spell comes up and everybody is dodging cough-germs it will come up again."

The comedian, whose show, "Boys and Girls Together," is one of the long range hits on Broadway this season, thinks the coughdrop story is also a variation of that family of jokes about the Lady and the Ship. You can also find it in O. Henry, who used confederate money instead of coughdrops.

Personally, the next time a panhandler edges up to me and says, "Buddy, can you spare a coughdrop," I'm going to turn around and run like hell. He may be an editor in disguise.

A Farmer's Diary

A New Variety

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I WALKED through my neighbor's orchard the other day when the trees were crisscross of branches against the snow. Each tree—each trunk—each twig and fruiting spur was different from every other. The roots of some trees came near the surface in knotty bumps — others were entirely buried.

Last fall before the crop was ripe, this orchard was loaded with dull green-looking fruit. Only on the side toward the southern sun were the first lively tints of red appearing. Yet, on close observation, I found no apple exactly like any other one, although to the casual eye, there might be a monotonous sameness.

I walked around to the northern side, where most of the fruit seemed greener. Several rows ahead I saw a little branch bent over until its farthest tip was buried in the timothy sod. It was a flaming scarlet spray of fruit that seemed to burn into the hazy autumn afternoon. I moved on until it arched across my path, and stood amazed!

Only one small branch that was so rich in color—all other limbs on the tree bore the same drab green fruit as the rest of the orchard.

I examined every half inch of this sprig to where the first red apple hung, but saw no inserted foreign bud, bark or left graft. The tender thrifty covering was free of man-made scars.

Here was a 'sport'—a different strain of apples growing. Like a genius of its kinds, it might fan into flame the rolling hills of many farms. By its new sparkling flavor and attractiveness this wanderer from its common kind may bring more health and vigor to the human race.

Along this same well-blazed trail has the "savage tasting drupe" been changed into a sweet, spicy, delightfully flavored plum. The peach has relayed to man the sparkling nectar of late summer days. The pear has passed along the rich gold of autumn sunshine.

Every year our nursery catalogs announce some novel and exciting variations of their stock. Every year the prospect of planting trees becomes more intriguing and delightful.

MISS MARY WINANS, L. K. WAGNER WED

PUBLIC announcement was made today of the marriage of Miss Mary Kathryn Winans, formerly of Shelby, and Leslie K. Wagner, Sturges avenue, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Wagner, Canton, which took place June 23, 1940, at Ashland, Ky. The Rev. Samuel R. Curry, pastor of the Presbyterian church of that city, officiated at the ceremony. The couple was unattended.

The bride of last summer, who is a teacher in the Lexington schools, was graduated from Shelby high school, Ft. Smith Junior college at Ft. Smith, Ark., and Ashland college. Mr. Wagner is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school, Ohio State university and the University of Cincinnati. He also attended the University of Frankfurt am Main in Germany, and is now engaged in the practice of law. Mr. and Mrs. Wagner are at home now at 63 Sturges avenue.

Friends were acquainted with the nuptial event Saturday at a dessert-bridge given at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Mrs. Mabel V. Winans, mother of the bride, entertained 40 guests. A former Shelby resident, Mrs. Winans is now matron of Ferncliff Hall at Wittenberg college at Springfield.

Tiny scrolls, disclosing the marriage, were concealed in the corsages of sweetpeas and carnations given the guests. Bridge and Chinese checkers were played, with prizes being awarded to Mrs. Markley Lowmiller, Mrs. Laura Rhinehart, Miss Marjorie Rollins, Miss Doris Light and Mrs. Clarence Stroup.

Among the guests were Mrs. C. L. Wagner, Canton, Mrs. D. B. Young, Mrs. Homer Robinson, Mrs. G. E. Verbeck, Mrs. Joseph Winans, Miss Opal Gates, Mrs. Henry Betz, Mrs. Viola Stentz, Mrs. Walter Browell, Miss Ardelle Hollinger, Miss Marjorie Rollins, Mrs. Gene Love, Miss Light, Miss Janet Koch, Miss Eileen Ovens, Mrs. Levi Wentz and Mrs. Stroup, all of Shelby.

Naomi Shrine Has Celebration of 28th Anniversary

The 28th anniversary of the organization of Naomi Shrine, No. 10, was celebrated last evening during a meeting at the Grotto hall. Following the business session, which was conducted by Mrs. Mary McFadden, worthy high priestess, a program was presented on the life of Stephen Foster.

Mrs. Fern Wierman was in charge of this, and songs by the composer were sung by Miss Mary Jane Belore, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Myra Culp. Members of the lodge portrayed the songs in pantomime at this time.

An anniversary luncheon was served at the close of the program, with Mrs. Thelma Hartmann and Mrs. Wierman presiding at the table, which was decorated with patriotic appointments. Mrs. Grace Chew was general chairman, in charge of the program and refreshments.

It was announced that new officers will be elected at the next meeting to be held in Grotto hall on March 24. Mrs. Isa Boughton and Mrs. Marian Forrest were given life memberships in the organization last evening.

Plan Dinner Party For Excelsior Class

Plans were made for the peanut sister dinner to be held May 28 when members of the Excelsion class of the First Lutheran church were entertained last night by Miss Lena Hummel, Clairmont avenue, and Miss Wanda Emmer. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Mary Hinz, and plans were made for piecing a quilt.

Contest prize winners were Miss Lucille Kochheiser, Mrs. Lenore Harnly, and Mrs. Marvin Stevens. Refreshments were served from a table decorated with red, white and blue appointments. Cacti plants were presented as favors.

Annual Dinner Held By Presbyterian Guild

The annual dinner of the United Presbyterian church guild was served at the parlors yesterday with the social committee in charge. Mrs. H. H. Ford led the devotions, and Mrs. Russell Gimbel gave an illustrated talk on the work of the Friendly House.

Guests present were Mrs. H. F. Shalter, Mrs. Royal Buchanan, Mrs. Lyle Rebman, Bellville, Mrs. Wayne Sutton, and Miss Eleanor Dickson. Mrs. Miller Jones, 334 South Main street, and Mrs. Karl Wolford.

Social Service Subject of Paper At Victorian Club

THERE were 23 members and two guests, Mrs. James Keyes, Columbus, and Miss Cloude Blake, present at the Woman's Club yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Kittie F. Neumann entertained the Victorian club. Refreshments were served from a table decorated with spring flowers and tapers. Mrs. Alice P. Jennings and Miss Blake presided at the table.

"Women In Social Service", was the subject of the paper given by Mrs. Irl Fisher, who said, "The most impelling force in social service work is love." She pointed out that many of the executive positions in the social service field are occupied by men, but 90 per cent of the case workers are women, and statistics have shown that women are much better fitted for investigation of cases.

The remainder of the paper was devoted to a discussion of Hull House, Jane Adams and the influence of her associates. Members will have a guest meeting March 10 at the Club, with Mrs. C. H. Henkel assisted by the officers, Mrs. John W. Graham, Mrs. John H. Finefrock, and Mrs. C. O. Russell in charge of the program. Hostesses will be Mrs. William Layton and Mrs. Victor Smith.

Elect Officers Of Grace Guild At Lommatzch's

Several new officers of the Grace guild of the First Methodist church were elected last night when Mrs. E. A. Lommatzch, West Fifth street, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Drumm, Mrs. Robert Richards and Mrs. Eugene Linham, entertained. Mrs. Louis P. Jisa, vice president, was temporarily in charge.

Mrs. Linham was named to the presidency succeeding Mrs. Paul Early who is leaving the city to make her home in Dayton. Mrs. W. R. Burkhart was elected financial chairman, and Mrs. J. J. Kindel is the new group leader.

A committee for a luncheon including Mrs. Ralph Wadsworth, Mrs. Harold Gorsuch and Mrs. Martin Merschdorf was named. Members of the bake sale committee which will be held April 12 are Mrs. Wayne Ward, Mrs. Jisa and Mrs. Clayton Groves.

The program on "Youth on the Highway" was given by Mrs. Roy Beck. Mrs. Helen Seisinger led the devotions. The next meeting will be held March 24 with Mrs. Beck, Park avenue west.

Entertain Five Guests At Gardenia Club

There were five guests, Mrs. Bessie DeYarmon, Mrs. Bessie Buchanan, Mrs. Maude Bates, Mrs. H. C. Metzler, and Mrs. G. D. Borchard, present for a meeting of the Gardenia club last evening at the home of Mrs. Catherine Yost, 112 South Main street.

Mrs. Grace Schellenberger was in charge of the business session, after which bunco was played at three tables. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Julia Grandstaff, Mrs. Mary Somers and the guests. Later a two-course luncheon was served.

Mrs. DeYarmon has invited the members to her home, 77 Greenwood avenue, for a meeting on March 10. Mrs. Alice Maxwell will be the assisting hostess at that time.

Initiate 14 New Members During Auxiliary Meet

THERE were 14 new members of the American Legion auxiliary initiated last night following a dinner at which 100 members and guests were entertained at the Legion home. Special guests were Earl Saltzgaber, Legion commander, Dr. Grover E. Swoyer, chaplain of the McVey post, and Mrs. Florence Oiler, president of the Fifth district, Fostoria, who conducted the initiation ceremonies and spoke following the services.

Mrs. Samuel Harkins, president, conducted the meeting during which routine reports were given. It was announced that the Mothers club will meet tomorrow for quilting, while the Juniors will meet March 10 to knit for the Red Cross. Members of the auxiliary will continue to meet Wednesday afternoon at the Red Cross work rooms for sewing and bandaging rolling.

Welfare work was reported. A program followed with children of the third and fourth grades of Western avenue school doing choral speaking. They read a group of five poems. Mrs. Nick Taneff, recently naturalized citizen, formerly of Macedonia, spoke on her impressions of the United States. Miss Henrietta Frank also gave a talk, and the Mothersingers of Carptner school concluded with four numbers. Bridge was played following the meeting. The next session will be held March 10.

Child Guidance Club Has Evening Program

Mrs. William Linton and Mrs. H. A. Westerveldt were welcomed as new members of the Child Guidance club last evening during a meeting at the home of Mrs. H. W. Hamblin on Hammond avenue. Mrs. L. R. McGinty was in charge of the program, and she presented a paper on "Truthfulness."

She then led a round table discussion on "Creative Imagination and Its Value," and a general discussion on the subject, "Is It Ever Legitimate to Lie?" Refreshments were served during the social hour, and Mrs. Frank Breckenridge invited the group to her home, 194 Fairlawn avenue, for the meeting of March 10.

Award Prizes During Semper Fidelis Social

Mrs. Harry Sullivan was hostess for a meeting of the Semper Fidelis club last evening at her home on Raleigh avenue. Prizes in the games were won by Mrs. Mary Curtin and Mrs. Elizabeth Kelly.

The floating prize was awarded to Mrs. Andrew Sunkel, and Mrs. Raymond Neff received a gift in honor of her birthday. Red, white and blue appointments were used on the table when luncheon was served. The next meeting, March 10, will be with Mrs. Sunkel on Park avenue east.

* * *

Alderson, Mrs. Phillip Somners and Mrs. Earl Megathlin, present at the meeting of the Bethel Bible club which was held yesterday with Mrs. R. K. Clark, Beechwood drive. The hostess led the devotions, and Mrs. Louis Rahn was in charge of the business meeting. Mrs. D. W. Cummins conducted the lesson. The next meeting will be held March 10 at the home of Mrs. Donald Given, Davis road.

* * *

FETED.

Mr. and Mrs. Hildreth Johns, 181 Wolfe avenue, entertained Saturday with a party in honor of their daughter, Carol, who was celebrating her eighth birthday. There were 16 present, and games were played. Pink and white appointments and a cake decorated the refreshment table.

GREEK LETTER GROUPS CONDUCT SESSIONS

Delta Kappa Gamma Has Dinner-Bridge Party; Zeta Rho Members Conduct Formal Initiation Ceremonies.

GREEK letter groups in this city—both professional and social—provide a wide variety of entertainment and activity for members of the younger set. Last night 18 members of Delta chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma met at the Women's Club for a dinner. Miss Lucille Lorow was hostess.

The members were seated at a T-shaped table decorated with patriotic appointments and lighted by red and white tapers. Members were invited to a dinner and formal initiation of Alpha Pi chapter at Mt. Vernon to be held March 11.

Bridge and contack were played with the Misses Clara Patton, Emily Palmer, Ruth Fenner and Gladys McDonald in charge. Prizes were won by Miss Anita Strauch and Miss Lorow. Mrs. H. M. Dunham, Alma, Mich., was a guest. The next meeting will be held March 24 with Miss Pearl Danhack, 223 South Franklin street. She will be assisted by the Misses Ruth Dunham, Palmer, and Leona Snyder.

* * *

A candlelight formal initiation ceremony was conducted at the Mansfield-Leland hotel ballroom last night for new members of the Zeta Rho chapter of Delta Theta Tau. Those inducted by the sorority officers were Betty Jane Yuncker, Margaret Fiedler, Margaret Strickler, Mary Margaret Spreng, Mrs. C. Rollin Hunsicker, Betty Jane Crider, Frances Strickler, Louise Grimes, Martha Pfaff, Virginia Weeber, Carolyn Woltmann, Evelyn Timmons and Mrs. Edward Fatkin.

Each was presented with a white rose, the sorority flower. Later the group went to the home of Miss Martha Buesser, West First street, where rose mold ice cream, and cake decorated with the sorority colors of green and white were served. Each new member was given a gift by her big sister. The next meeting, the place of which will be announced later, will be held March 10.

Friends Plan To Fete Mrs. Welsh Friday

Plans for a party honoring Mrs. Paul Welsh were announced today by Mrs. Albert Miller, Fairlawn avenue. She will entertain Friday with the assistance of Miss Ruth Fritz and Mrs. P. F. Plue. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Welsh, West Fourth street, entertained 15 relatives and friends recently in honor of their son and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Welsh was Miss Marian Stough before her marriage last Friday.

A social evening was spent, and luncheon was served buffet style. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Spreng, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Spreng, Mr. and Mrs. George Miller and Miss Margaret Miller, all of Ashland, and J. Welsh of Savannah.

HAVE STUDY.

The foreign policy study group of the League of Women Voters met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. James M. Hill, Park avenue west, for a round table discussion. Mrs. John F. Daley, Mrs. O. L. Seybold, Mrs. Gilbert Dobson and Mrs. Hill took part. Latin America is the current topic for discussion, and the meetings are open to all members of the league. Mrs. Hill will entertain again March 10 at 2:30 p. m.

Tent Conducts Family Dinner, Birthday Party

There were 65 members and their families present last night for the annual covered-dish dinner and Washington's birthday party of the Mary B. Mitchell Tent No. 40, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War held in the Memorial hall. The table was decorated with a large cake bearing the letters "D. U. V." lighted tapers in crystal holders and miniature flags.

Mrs. Ethel Metz presided, and gave the address of welcome, after which Mrs. Lillian Robenolt gave a patriotic reading, and Ella McHugh gave a reading on Washington. Patriotic music was played by Miss Doris Clark on the accordion, and Paul Watts sang accompanied by Mrs. Watts, and later led group singing.

The regular routine session followed the program, and Mrs. Ethel Ferrell was installed as press correspondent. Mrs. Ethel Gump was the winner of the prize. The next meeting will be held March 10.

Gretna Green Sets Up Whipping Post

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Suppose in some lovely tropic isle, much publicized in prose and poetry as a Paradise for lovers' vows, you came across a queer-looking contraption labeled, "Whipping Post for Wife Beaters." Would it give you pause if you had rushed to this ideal spot bent on matrimony? Rather!

Some such experience has come to the lovely little town of Elkton, Maryland, long the Gretna Green of nearby states. The roster of celebrities who have dashed to Elkton in high-powered cars is legion. Now they've set up a whipping post for wife-beaters.

Recently a press dispatch stated that a 42-year-old man, convicted of wife-beating, stood with bared back in the chilly prison yard and received ten lashes with a cat o'nine tails in Cecil county's first public whipping in forty-six years. The lashing was witnessed by about forty persons, and the wife-beater was escorted to jail, where he was examined by two physicians who pronounced him in good shape.

For years, signs, four and five feet wide and equally high, announced in huge black letters to those in haste to wed that marrying was done on the premises. The huge signs still stand, though legislation has been enacted which prevents the hot haste of elopers by compelling them to observe a three-day "pause and reflect" between the issuing of the license and the actual ceremony.

Citizens of Elkton who have lovely old homes adjoining Gretna Green were embarrassed by the publicity and jokes bandied about the old town. It is stated that there was an enormous revenue from marriage licenses, and the marrying parsons were alleged to be without pulpits and to run sundry businesses on the side when they were not tying matrimonial knots. Your reporter has seen signs combining marrying and the sale of antiques, offered on the same premises. Boarding houses and cabmen did very nicely, too, with their marriage clients.

But aristocratic Marylanders objected and they worked hard for that three-day clause in the marriage license. Perhaps if they had invoked the whipping post before forty-six years of inaction, Elkton would have been less of a Gretna Green. It is not recorded whether the man who suffered the lashes in the jail yard for wife-beating had been among those who rushed to Elkton to marry in haste. More than likely he was not among the impassioned lovers. Few of them take up a permanent residence in Maryland. They marry and move on, often to Reno after a few weeks.

Only last November one of our screen stars dropped off at Elkton and said the requisite number of "I do's." Today she is Reno-bound, saying an equal number of "I don'ts." Thus it goes. There is joy among the sober citizens of Elkton that, in spite of the huge signs of the marrying parsons which still stand, the marry-in-haste-and-repent-at-leisure clientele must go elsewhere.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, February 26.

Excellent opportunities for advancing upon new and important projects is observed among the planetary configurations for this day. While fresh starts on old or statis affairs are accented yet new efforts and programs in relation to the novel and untried are likewise under excellent augury for success, and stabilization. Clever initiative as well as the steady, faithful and well-considered patterns and purpose are encouraged.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is should find a year of splendid opportunity and achievement knocking at the door. Both old and new matters are under augury for success, stability and concentrated effort in conjunction with those in power and financial standing.

A child born on this day should have many and versatile abilities, suported by splendid traits of character making for it personal popularity as well as practical success. It will be brilliant, executive and substantial.

STUDY THE HEMS

When buying new towels carefully look over the hems. Well wearing towels should have hems turned back neatly, should be stitched firmly with fine stitches, with the corners of the hems backstitched.

Cubes of stiff mint jelly give gay garnishes to chocolate desserts. The flavors go especially well together.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"He's not my boy friend," Carolyn protested shrilly, but Dicky gave her a quizzical stare.

"No?" he queried skeptically. "Not that it makes the slightest difference to us. As I told you before we are perfectly indifferent to your future parking places, or the friends who share them. But it suits us to see that you get safely back to the college. After that you're on your own. Only don't count on us to help you when you get into a jam."

"Uncle Dicky doesn't mean that last remark, Carolyn," I struck in swiftly, for I felt that he was going a bit too far.

"What do you mean that I don't mean it?" Dicky growled. Then he turned to Carolyn.

"I'm running this show."

"But you're not running me." I told him, softening the rebellious statement with a comradely grin. Then I turned back to Carolyn.

"I can promise you that I won't interfere with you as long as you keep Marion's disappearance from your mother," I told her, knowing that I was safe and had truth on my side in making the promise, for Dicky and my father would attend to laying the traps and trails in Weirhampton.

"And I also will promise you," I added as impressively as possible, "that if you get into a 'jam' as Uncle Dicky says, and you can get word to me, I will give you whatever aid I can—and so will he."

"Like the hot place, I will," he growled, but I paid no attention.

"But of course," I added, "it will be far better that you do not get into any 'jam'."

She made no reply to that, but when Dicky said, "Well! I guess that's all, Madge," and I started the car again, she cried out after an instant: "The police car is following us. Why is that when we are so near home?"

"Because, little darling," Dicky said silkily, "experience has told us that little wildcats like you need strong bodyguards."

"But Mums!" she faltered with horror in her voice that I judged was genuine. "She'll be frightened if she sees those cops."

"Not every gal rates a police escort," Dicky countered flippantly. "But don't worry. They won't come right up to the door. We'll have them park down the lane a bit until we decide we don't need them any more."

She gave a sigh that I guessed reflected both relief and resignation, and spoke no more until we turned into the road which runs past the Brixton country home, and I stopped the car at Dicky's request.

"I'll just run back and tell the police officers where to park," he said. "Carolyn, if you try to get away now, it will be just too bad. Those officers are watching you, and I'd hate to turn you over to your mother in handcuffs."

He started to lope down the road in the direction of the police car, and Carolyn spoke tensely.

"Auntie Madge!" she said.

"Yes, Carolyn."

"There's one jam I will be in right away if you can't help me out," she said.

"I'll do everything I can." I said.

"It's Ronald," she answered. "I can manage Mums and Dad, but old Ron is something else again. If he ever gets me alone and starts questioning me, I know I'll tell him about Marion disappearing."

THEATERS

Latest of Hardy Films.

The latest Hardy family picture, showing at the Ohio, proves a milestone in the life of Andrew Hardy. Its plot, in brief, finds the young man deep in the duties as chairman of numerous senior committees, and being a Good Samaritan on the side to a couple of youngsters less fortunate than he. The popular cast has again been assembled with Lewis Stone as Judge and Mickey Rooney as Andy. The picture also marks the screen debut of a pair of newcomers, Kathryn Grayson and Todd Karns.

* * *

All Star Comedy.

One of the gayest pictures to be released recently is "Road Show," which comes Wednesday to the Madison, with an all-star cast. It is based on the best-seller of the same name by Eric Hatch, and the story lends itself to the screen treatment with high comedy situations, exciting romances, and human interest appeal. Included in the cast are Adolphe Menjou, Carole Landis, Joan Hubbard, Margaret Roach, Patsy Kelly, Charles Butterworth and many others. Co-attraction is "Pastor Hall," the first picture to be produced by James Roosevelt. It is the noted story by Ernest Toller. It has a sensational Nazi theme.

* * *

Human Drama.

A picture that's delightfully different is "Jennie," starring Virginia Gilmore and William Henry. Its story is of the girl, "Jennie," who tamed a family tyrant and brought joy and adventure into eight lives. Second feature showing at the Ritz Tuesday and Wednesday is "Tugboat Annie Sails Again," taken from the Saturday Evening Post story. Marjorie Rambeau, Alan Hale, Jane Wyman and Ronald Reagan have the leading roles.

* * *

Radio Stars In Musical.

* * *

Hilton Novel Filmed.

The famous novel, "We Are Not Alone" by James Hilton was filmed and stars Paul Muni. This picture playing at the Majestic Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday also stars Jane Bryan in the feminine lead. Muni portrays the English country doctor, a simple kindly soul, whom circumstances make the victim of cruel injustice. Second feature is "The Man Who Talked Too Much," with George Brent and Virginia Bruce in the leads.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

PUNISHED BY SUCCESS

Most of us have heard the plaint of habitual racetrack bettors—consequently habitual losers—who blame their addiction on the fact that they won the first day they ever went to the track. If they only had lost every bet that day, they would have stayed away or such is the tenor of their sobs. So it is also with some of the wild bidders we all see—fellows who try all sorts of crazy psychic bids and plays, with no apparent rhyme or reason to some of them. Investigation of their past usually will show that they got away with a crazy bid once upon a time, and are trying to repeat the feat. They are still being punished by their initial success.

(Dealer. North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	Pass	3 ♦	Pass
4 ♣	Pass	6 ♦	Dbl
6 ♠	Dbl

A player in one of the New York clubs, whose sound bridge ranks with that of the best players in it, is a steady loser because he can't resist the temptation to try crazy and spectacular things. Only once in a blue moon does he get away with one, and in the meantime he takes it on the chin five times for every occasion that profits him. An old-time partner of his, who had been in the west for some years, came back the other day and solved the mystery of the wild bidder. He told about the hand which had made the madman mad. It is the one shown here, and his bidding was as given.

What a break of luck he got! In the first place, he was rather fortunate in having his partner leave the 6-Spades bid in, instead of taking out to 7-diamonds. Then look at the luck of the play. As the cards lie his 6-Spade contract was "cold." The only trick East and West could get was with the trump A, after East led the diamond 8, for the club finesse worked and spade Q was caught in a finesse.

Ever since that day, according to his old partner, North has been trying to win points in similar fashion.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Salt water helps keep cut flowers fresh. Use a teaspoon of salt for 3 cups of water.

Grated horseradish-apple sauce gives zest to meat and fowl dishes. Mix equal portions of grated horseradish and grated raw apples, season lightly with salt and pepper, add ¼ as much vinegar and serve in a small dish.

For extra flavor put a teaspoon of curry powder in every three cups of cooked rice needed for a rice ring. Cubed cooked liver in a savory brown sauce gives a wholesome filler for the ring. Chicken livers are ultra, but beef liver is also tasty.

How to Make a Splendid Cough Remedy at Home

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of sugar syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all.
Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of truly wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It makes a real saving for you, because it gives you about four times as much for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it.
This is actually a surprisingly effective, quick-acting cough remedy. Promptly, you feel it taking hold. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You've never seen anything better for prompt and pleasing results.
Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Madison Upsets Lexington In County Tournament

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Tiffin Columbian, Mansfield High's first opponent in the Sandusky tournament next week, clinched a tie for the Buckeye league title last week by edging Findlay 26-24, and probably won the loop championship in that game.

Tiffin has only one circuit defeat and the second-place Fremont club has two. This week Columbian meets the last-place Fostoria outfit, which has only one victory to its credit, while Fremont tangles with third-place Findlay.

So Mansfield's Tygers will be meeting a champion in their first tournament joust. Nice prospect, coming on top of games with Massillon and Canton McKinley!

* * *

Columbian didn't look so hot last Friday for the first three quarters, according to the Tiffin Advertiser-Tribune.

But then, Mansfield didn't look too torrid in the last two periods against Massillon, although outscored only four points in each stanza.

* * *

So, with an eye on that Sandusky cage clash a week from Saturday night, the Columbians and the Tygers can spend the next two weeks trilling the same theme song:

"Give me a heat wave, a tropical heat wave!

* * *

Even if Coach Vern Hoffman's hoopsters should lose their next two games, which is not a foregone conclusion, the Tyger tutor would have every right to look upon his season as a success.

After starting out with one victory and six defeats, the Tygers came back and now have a 50-50 mark with nine victories against as many losses.

* * *

In all fairness, all that anyone can ask of a coach is that his charges show marked improvement as they go along under his tutelage.

Hoffman and the Tygers certainly have filled that requirement of success. The same improvement shown in any one classroom would mark the instructor as a whale of a schoolmaster, or marm.

* * *

There will always be some, of course, who demand victories as the measure of success. Ball players long have had a phrase for them:

"The wolves are out!"

* * *

Fan mail! A group of Richland county league fans write to "Dear Podge" saying they like the column, and how about picking an all-county team with Dave Grubb and four other guys, and asking a good boost for the county tournament.

The letter was dated Sunday, but I expect by now they have seen that big five-column layout of county captain pictures in the Sunday N-J, and the yarn that went with it.

Gosh, kids, I can't do much better than that. For the truly!

DI MAGGIO ORDERED TO REPORT BY YANKEES

SAN FRANCISCO—(INS)—The New York Yankees have ordered holdout Joe DiMaggio to report for duty at St. Petersburg, Fla., training camp by March 2, brother Tom DiMaggio reported today.

But information stopped there, for Joe was holding himself incommunicado somewhere in San Francisco and Tom had no more to say.

Carbetta Wins Two Verdicts

Paul Carbetta got away to a flying start in the mid-west Golden Gloves tournament at Chicago last night. Mansfield's flyweight champion of the Cleveland Golden Gloves turned in a pair of victories on decisive verdicts.

* * *

Punching Paul dropped tall Elmo Latta of Indianapolis twice in scoring his opening round decision, then came back with a win over Eddie Dames of St. Louis in the second round.

* * *

Carbetta uncorked a series of vicious left hooks in the first round of the opener to set Latta up for his downfall.

Still swinging that left hook in the second, Carbetta forced Latta to drop his guard to protect the mid-section, then slammed over a hard right to the chin that floored the Hoosier for eight counts.

The right cross dropped Latta in his own corner, but he was far from feeling at home.

* * *

Another knockdown put Latta very much on the defensive and he pedalled throughout the last round as the over-anxious Carbetta tried to measure him for the finisher.

* * *

Paul's second victory over Dames put the Mansfielder in the quarter-finals of the tournament. He's booked for one fight tonight, and if he wins he'll return for the semi-final round tomorrow night.

Badgers Near Big Ten Title

Ohio State Reduced To 4th Place Tie.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill —(AP)— With Wisconsin resting on the threshold of its undisputed Big Ten basketball championship in 23 years, Ohio State today found itself reduced to a tie for fourth with Illinois.

The Illini trimmed the Bucks soundly, 53-36, here last night, with Art Mathisen accounting for 20 points for Illinois.

Wisconsin achieved its glory the hard way.

The Indiana Hoosiers were favored last night because of the home-floor advantage, but the Badgers won, 38 to 30, and virtually clinched the diadem.

Minnesota, which up to last night still had a chance to tie for the crown, but downtrodden Chicago, 56 to 24

Purdue's defending champions outlasted Iowa in a double overtime game to win, 52 to 49

Michigan, which lost six of its first seven games, racked up its fourth consecutive victory with a 45 to 39 decision over Northwestern.

Senior Tankmen Cop High Title

Senior splashers won the Mansfield High swimming championship yesterday churning the water of senior high pool for 39 points against 26 for the juniors and three for the sophomores.

Seniors scored three firsts, and copped the 200-yard free-style relay while juniors gained two firsts and won the 150-yard medley re-

Toledo's Sizzling Rockets Stage Pyrotechnic Display

(By Associated Press)

When it comes to basketball pyrotechnics, Toledo university's sizzling Rockets give you your money's worth.

* * *

The Rockets lit a slow fuse in last night's game with invading De Paul of Chicago and trailed 21-9 before warming to their work. They were still behind 25-20 at halftime, but won out 47-45 in a stirring last half finish.

* * *

The victory was Toledo's 19th in 21 starts this season and their second over De Paul. The Toledoans have scored 1073 points so far, 313 more than their opponents.

In the Ohio conference, Denison drew into a fifth-place tie with Ohio Northern by whipping the Polar Bears 40 to 35 at Granville; Baldwin-Wallace upset Oberlin 50 to 36 and Capital downed Otterbein 49 to 45.

Illinois set Ohio State down 53 to 36 in a Big Ten clash at Champaign while Western State of Kalamazoo, Mich., invaded Defiance to take a 42-38 victory.

The outcome of the Denison-Ohio Northern fray left the two teams even in the conference with eight victories and four defeats apiece. The Baptists grabbed a 25-19 halftime lead and the Polar Bears didn't score another fielder until the last minute of play, when they sank two

* * *

The Baldwin-Wallace and Capital victories were the second for each team in conference play. The Yellow Jackets have lost six and Capital 10 in the league. Defeats left Oberlin with only two victories in six starts and Otterbein with five wins in 12 games, all in the league.

BEAU BELL PLACED IN FIRST DRAFT CLASS

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—(INS)—Roy Bell, Cleveland Indian outfielder, has been placed in class 1A and subject to immediate call for service, it was announced today by a selective service appeal board at San Antonio.

Bell has passed his physical examination. He previously was classed as 3A by his local draft board.

City Loop Has Quick Death Tilt

Blue Goose and Billiards Face Elimination.

The City A Basketball league will again swing into play tonight with a three star attraction.

In the first game at 7 Club Billiards will tangle with the Blue Goose Sohioans. Both clubs have been defeated once in the second round of play and since the loser is automatically eliminated, both teams will really be "out for blood."

In the second game at 8, Westinghouse will tangle with the Ohio Seamless Tube of Shelby. This also should be a crackerjack ball game since both have been defeated once and must win tonight in order to survive the second round playoff.

In the third game at 9, Yuncker Sports will engage the Athletic Supply in a game that should be the tops on the program. Both teams are undefeated in the second round, and naturally, the winner of this game will be favored to cop the second round flag. These two teams finished in a tie for second place in the first round, which was won by the Blue Goose Sohioans.

DODGERS AND INDIANS WIN LEAGUE GAMES

Dodgers cagers defeated the Blue Sox quintet 16 to 10 and the Indians edged the Yanks 12 to 10 in the Rangers Club league at the Friendly House last night.

Woodbury made a total of 8 for the Dodgers making him high scorer.

Rams Paced By Hammer Defeat Minute Men

Brilliant Long Shooting of Dillon and Wade Worries Winners; Union Rallies to Swamp Springfield

By RLX HESS, News-Journal Sports Editor.

IT'S TOURNAMENT TIME! Upsets are in order, Lady Luck dons her most coquettish garb and smiles at the strangest people, the dope bucket is bein kicked into the semblance of a shinny can, and the talent backers are forming in line at the wailing wall.

Madison high's Rams furnished the upset last night as the Richland county joust opened before a sell-out crowd in the Lucas gym

The Rams kicked their heels and butted heir horns around like that old springtime Boch Ram himself, found themselves favored by fickle Dame Fortune, and upset the Minute Men of Lexington in a 3[illegible] minute thriller 43-39.

* * *

The Lady played nice in the tournament's opening tilt, beaming fondly on the favored Union Indians as they swamped Springfield's Warriors 45-31. But she waited until half-way through the second quarter before she quit flirting and openly proclaimed her preference.

* * *

Until that time the Warriors had kept pace, point for point, with the Indians in the battle of the tepee, but Springfield got stuck on old 13, while Union used the same number as the springboard to victory.

TOURNEY MOVES

The county tournament moves to Mansfield senior high gym Thursday night for second round of play with Union meeting Lucas at 7 p. m., Plymouth tangling with Shiloh at 8 p. m. and Bellville renewing its feud with Butler at 9.

Test of Style.

The Madison-Lexington fracas was a test between the fast floor play of the Rams and the sensational long shooting of the Minute Men.

The Rams, paced by Harold Hammer who connected on six out of 10 shots from the floor and sparked their snappy passing game, tallied nearly all their points under the hoop, while Lexington depended, and with good reason, on the sharp-shooting accuracy of Sheldon Dillon and Captain Wilbur Wade on long set-shots.

* * *

Madison jumped away to a 14-8 lead in the first quarter. Hammer opened the scoring with a follow shot and Wynn connected on a free toss before Ritchie got a free point for Lexington. Wynn meshed a one-hander from the circle and Lexington took time out with the score 5-1.

* * *

Windsor got a charity point and Dillon looped a long shot from the side. Weimer tallied under the hoop, and Dillon got a free point. Hammer dribbled in for two points, and Wynn also scored under the basket. Lexington again took time out with the score 12-4. Wade sank a free shot, Windsor dribbled in for a bucket, and Wade got another free point. Dillon hooped a long heave from the side as the quarter ended 14-8.

Second Quarter.

Roberts, replacing Weimer for Madison, sank a one-hander from the corner. Ritchie tallied from the corner, and Hammer scored under the hoop. Ritchie cashed a one-hander from the circle, and Reams got a bunny on a neat under-basket block. Leading 18-14, Madison took time out.

* * *

Fuhrer dribbled to the circle for a one-hander. Poston got a free point. Wade sank a long set-shot and Fuhrer scored under the ring to put Lexington ahead 20-19. Poston tied the score with a free shot. Wynn scored under the bucket and Roberts sank a one-hander from the corner to give Madison a 24-20 lead at the half.

* * *

Hammer got a free point and Lexington took its third time-out. Weimer meshed a pair of free throws and Wynn caged a follow-shot to make it 29-20. Ritchie sank a short shot from the side. Hammer scored two quick buckets on a dribble-in shot and a follow. Madison took time out leading 33-22.

Wade sank a pair of free points. Hammer and Windsor dribbled in for a pair of buckets and with the score 37-24 Lexington took its fourth time-out.

Dillon started a rally with two set shots from the corner to make it 37-28 at the third quarter.

Stage Rally.

Wade kept the rally going with a long shot from the side. Wynn sank a one-hander from the corner. Ritchie inserted a long heave. Weimer tallied on a long pivot-shot, and Poston got a sucker-shot, making it 43-32.

Madison's scoring ended at that point but Lexington wasn't through. Wade got a long set-shot and Madison took time out with four minutes left to play. Wade and Ritchie each got a free point. Dillon fouled out and was replaced by Hoover. Wade caged a free point, and then hooped a long shot from the center.

* * *

Hammer rejected a free throw and kept possession of the ball by taking it out-of-bounds. Through the last minute of the game Madison stalled with some brilliant passwork. Weimer, fouled as the game ended, missed a free shot with the crowd on the floor.

* * *

Springfield made things interesting for Union through the first quarter and half-way into the second. Poleratz opened the scoring with a follow-shot. Hahn scored from the side. Gerberick tallied from the circle, and Adams got a follow to make it 4-4. Cassel hooped a follow-shot and Curry caged a one-hander from the circle.

Score Tied.

Cassel dribbled in for a bucket and Adams got a free point and then a one-hander from the circle. Cassel hooped a free shot and Poleratz got a sucker shot. Curry scored a one-hander from the corner to leave the count deadlocked at 11-11 at the quarter.

* * *

Poleratz got a sucker shot and Downs scored under the hoop. Cassel got a free point, and then Union started to town, running the score to 19-14 before Springfield scored again, and then to 24-16 at the half.

* * *

Union continued the scoring spree through the third period to pile up a 32-19 lead, and the game was on ice.

Bowling Scores Rolled Last Night

Commercial Managers passed Rotary club for first place in the club league last night, and the loop standing now reads: Managers 45-30, Rotary 43-32.

* * *

Jim France turned in the 9-10 split last night when his ball, almost off the alley, nicked the 10-pin and slid it across to the nine.

* * *

Harold Selby rolled high total for the league with 607 on games of 201-184-222, and Sherm Wentz had 234-202-147—583. Henry Michaels chalked up high game with 244 and American Legion had high game of 976, and high total on 870-935-976—2,771.

In the Tappan league Jim LeMunyon and Art Rupanovic tied for high total with 553. LeMunyon had 168-175-180, and Rupanovic 189-195-169. Rupanovic's 195 was high game for the evening. Office No. 3 had hight total of 2,463 and high game of 856.

* * *

Brig Young paced the Moose league with 195-193-188—576 and Jim Weems had high game with 247. Moose No. 6 rolled 807-889-1,020 — 2,716 for high total, and that 1,020 naturally was high game.

* * *

Hartsel led the C league with high game of 222 and high total of 563. Dominion turned in high game of 922 and high total of 2,555.

Fugitive on a Dude Ranch + +

By Stephen Payne

(Copyright, 1941)

CHAPTER XIX ... ...

"Are you laughing at us?" snarled Tony.

"No, certainly not."

"Mind you don't either. As for your answer, it doesn't satisfy me. I want to know—"

"Aw, nuts. Lay off him, Tony," advised Barclay.

* * *

In silence the three strangely contrasting characters drew into the railroad town of Dagger Wash, where almost immediately they saw the coach of Roger J. Barclay parked at the curb on Main street. This street was still lighted, although the rest of the town, except for the depot, was dark.

Barclay jumped out of the flivver. "There 'tis! My car." He ran to the machine. "Key's in the ignition switch. But if it hadn't been, I've got another."

Tony followed the ranch buyer, and after a moment's hesitation Cinders inquired, "Not going to set the law on Bobbie, are you, Mr. Barclay?"

"Hell, no!"

"No indeed!" echoed Tony. "Cinders, you ain't intending to beat it, are you? You'll take the flivver back home? The girl too if you can find her?"

"Of course," Cinders retorted shortly. Never had he met any one who irritated him and "rubbed his fur the wrong way" quite so much as did Tony Perriwell. In a savage mood he drove around a block and parked on a dark street.

Cinders sought the telegraph office. After he had written a long telegram he discovered he had not one cent to pay for having it sent.

"Can you reverse the charges?" he asked anxiously.

The operator glanced at the address. "Wh. F. Waller, 1214 Block Bldg., Philadelphia" and nodded. "It's O. K. That fellow Waller hasn't complained yet about paying the charges on messages sent from this end."

"Messages?" asked Cinders pointedly.

"Yes. Messages. Plural."

"Who besides me is telegraphing old Bill? I mean Mr. Waller?" queried Cinders.

"Can't tell you that, young man," said the operator decisively. Then: "Hello, young lady, what's wrong? You look troubled."

The man was looking past Cinders, whose back was toward the door. Cinders did not immediately turn; not until a sweet voice behind him said, "I'm in trouble. It's gone. Gone! The car I drove to town. It wasn't mine, so now I am on the spot."

Cinders spun on his heels and looked at Nancy—bare-headed, her cheap, ill-fitting clothes somewhat disheveled, but the girl herself prettier than ever, he thought. How she could move him! He had resolved to have nothing more to do with her and already this brave resolve was melting like soft snow before a chinook.

"Cinders, you here?" she exclaimed in well-asumed surprise.

* * *

As if she had not seen him enter the telegraph office only a few minutes after she discovered that the car she had appropriated was missing! Nancy had known real panic then. How was she to get back to the ranch? Furthermore, she had visions of being arrested for stealing an automobile.

Suddenly it had occurred to her to wire Uncle Bill for money and tell him of her latest predicament. Accordingly she had returned to the telegraph office, which she had only just left, and had waited for Cinders to write his telegram and step to the counter before she entered.

"I never expected to see you," she went on with pretended innocence. "I was just going to ask the telegraph man what I should do."

"Well, you needn't," said Cinders trying hard to sound gruff. "Operator," glancing over his shoulder. "I was with the fellow who owns the car this girl was driving. He's got it and he's satisfied. It's all hunky-dory."

With this he walked straight to Nancy and took her arm. "We'll go home, Bobbie— you're ready?"

"All ready, Cinders. Thanks awfully."

Then went out together, leaving a puzzled telegraph operator to scratch his bald head and read once again the wire Cinders had handed him:

"Wm. F. Waller: I'm at the ranch. Niece O. K. except for two things, a fortune hunting jackanapes trying to shine up to her, and Kirk Maxwell of The All-Seeing Eye being here. Our bad luck. Going to interview Marcia for illustrated story. Publicity. I'll stop it somehow. Don't worry. Hard to send private wires. Best write me as Cinders Mallow the name I'm using.

"Don Sturgis."

Cinders had reported nothing about a working girl he had caught opening one of Marcia Louise Farnsworth's letters. No! This was an incident he had neglected to mention.

Driving the rattletrap flivver along Main street, Cinders and Nancy found Roger J. Barclay's coach parked at the Bright Lights Tap Room. Halting the old car, Cinders said briefly, "Wait, Bobbie," and went into the tavern. There he beckoned to Smoothie Dick, ignoring Tony.

The ranch buyer joined him. "Have a cocktail?"

YOU'RE A PRACTICAL GUY, WARBUCKS-YOU KNOW WHAT IT'S ALL ABOUT! YOU'RE ALL BUSINESS-WELL, SO ARE WE--- YOU GOT A NICE BIG PLANT HERE-
YES-GO ON-SO WHAT?
SO IT'D BE A SHAME IF SOMETHING SHOULD HAPPEN THAT'D SHUT YUH DOWN FOR A FEW DAYS--OR WEEKS--OR MONTHS, EH? THAT'D BE TOUGH!
NICE OF YOU TO WORRY ABOUT SUCH A POSSIBILITY-BUT I CAN ASSURE YOU IT WON'T HAPPEN-
HA! HA! SAME TOUGH OLD BIRD YOU ALWAYS WAS, AIN'TCHA! BUT THIS TIME, WARBUCKS, BEING TOUGH WON'T BE ENOUGH--WE'VE GOT YOU AND YOU KNOW IT-
THAT'S ONLY YOUR OPINION-I BACK MY STATEMENTS-
O.K.--SO DO WE, PAL--EITHER YOU AND WE GET TOGETHER --- OR YOUR PLANT GETS SHUT DOWN--IF YOU DON'T BELIEVE WE CAN MAKE GOOD ON THAT ONE, JUST WAIT AND SEE!
WAIT AND SEE, EH? NOT A BAD IDEA-HOW LONG DO YOU PREDICT I'LL HAVE TO WAIT?

OH—THERE'S MR. BRYAN NOW! HE SURELY GOT HERE QUICKLY!
HERE SHE IS, GEORGE
WHICH BUILDING DID HE GO INTO?
THAT ONE RIGHT THERE!—OH, I HOPE HE DIDN'T COME OUT WHILE I WAS PHONING!
LET'S GET IN THE CAR—WE CAN WATCH FROM THERE
WHY—HE LOOKS SO STARTLINGLY LIKE DAVID I CAN HARDLY REALIZE YET IT WASN'T DAVID I SAW! BUT I JUST KNEW IT COULDN'T BE!
NO, IT WAS CERTAINLY NOT GORDON!
—THEN IT FLASHED IN MY MIND THIS MAN—MIGHT HAVE IMPERSONATED DAVID—BEEN THE ONE WHO SHOT THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY!
THAT'S EXACTLY HOW WE'VE FIGURED IT OUT—IT HAD TO BE SOME ONE WHO LOOKED EXACTLY LIKE GORDON!

THE NEBBS—Paging Nebb. By Sol Hess

LONESOME AND ALONE IN THE BIG CITY, ROCKNEY IS CALLING LONG DISTANCE ASKING HIS GOOD FRIEND, NEBB, TO JOIN HIM
HELLO, RUDY, COME ON UP— I NEED YOU—I'M STOPPING AT THE SAN MORITZ—I'M LONESOME--AND HOW
IT'S FLINT CALLING FROM THE SAN MORITZ—WANTS ME TO COME UP AND KEEP HIM COMPANY
THAT'S ALL RIGHT IF YOU KEEP HIM COMPANY BUT I KNOW WHAT HE'S UP THERE FOR—CHASING THAT WIDOW—IF HE WANTS TO MAKE A FOOL OF HIMSELF YOU TELL HIM TO DO IT—DON'T ADD ANY OF YOUR TALENT!

BRICK BRADFORD—On the Throne of Titania. By William Ritt and Clarence Gray

Big Year Looms For Building In Mansfield

Shabby Floors Detract From Home Beauty

Shabby floors often prevent that spic-and-span appearance which most housewives desire in their homes. If the condition of the floor prevents satisfactory refinishing, a new floor is in order.

Laying new hardwood floors over the existing floor is an improvement which may be financed with funds obtained from private lending institutions approved by the Federal Housing Administration under its Modernization Credit Plan.

Before the new flooring is laid it is necessary to make sure that the existing floor is level and free from humps and that all loose boards are securely nailed down. Boards that cannot be planed or nailed down level should be replaced, and all rough edges should be sandpapered.

The molding strip at the bottom of the baseboard should be removed and a good quality building paper laid over the old floor. New flooring is applied at right angles to the old floor. A thin flooring will be satisfactory but not one that is less than three-eighths inch thick.

If new flooring has not been laid in all rooms, sloping saddles or thresholds will have to be placed at doorways to overcome the difference in floor levels and the doors refitted by cutting off at the bottom. After refinishing, baseboard molding strips should be replaced.

Consider View In Planning Rooms

The rooms of a house should be located in relation to the view, the sun, and prevailing winds, planning authorities declare.

The living room, they say, should be bright, cheerful and have plenty of sunlight and, if possible, the best view from its windows.

Morning sunlight is generally desirable for dining space. The kitchen should be located to avoid as much direct exposure to the sun as possible.

Bedrooms should have sunlight some time during the day and be favored by exposure to the prevailing summer winds at night.

Appraisal Clinic Scheduled Mar. 7

An all-day appraisal clinic, devoted to the problems and modern techniques of real estate appraisals, will be held Mar. 7, in the Red Room at Hotel Cleveland under the direction of the Cleveland section of the Ohio Chapter of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers in cooperation with the Cleveland Real Estate Board.

Members of the Institute in cities of Northeastern Ohio have been invited to attend this meeting, according to Charles A. Mullenix, president of the organization.

The session will begin at 1:30 p. m. and continue throughout the afternoon after which there will be an adjournment for dinner which then will be followed by an evening period of questions, answers and discussions.

INSIDE CHIMNEY

Unless the building budget will permit construction of a chimney of good proportion in relation to the size of the house, it is thought highly desirable and also more economical to use an inside chimney.

House Has Air of Warmth and Friendliness

There is an atmosphere of warmth and friendliness about this house. Its spacious lawn and planting help to give it dignity. At one end of the rectangular living room is a fireplace, while across the hall is a reasonably large study, which has access to the first floor lavatory. The dining room and kitchen are located in the rear on the first floor, while upstairs are three bedrooms and bath. The Federal Housing Administration put a valuation of $8,500 on this property, which is located in the north central area. The price may vary in other localities.

FIRST THATCHED HUT WAS FORERUNNER OF INSULATION

The thatched hut of northern Europe with a roof of two feet of straw woven together, and with thick walls of clay and straw, was as well insulated as it was picturesque.

Dwelling insulation has been instinctively practiced for many years by various people. South Sea islanders keep cool in thatched huts constructed of dried sea grass.

Spanish mission houses of the Southwest desert, where the temperature sometimes rises to 140 degrees in the daytime, were comparatively cool because of the thick walls constructed of clay and straw and roofs of brush and clay.

Throughout the world a variety of construction methods has been used as a protection against heat and cold to improve the comfort of the occupants.

The importance of proper insulation in the small house has only been appreciated within the past 20 to 25 years, building experts say. As a result of the growing appreciation of dwelling insulation, materials have been developed which are not only highly efficient from the standpoint of reduction in heat loss but are also readily adapted to conventional methods of residential construction.

Insulation of homes should result in improved comfort and economy of heating.

In the winter an uninsulated home may be drafty, expensive to heat, have cold exterior walls which sap body heat, and have some rooms too cold in severe weather. In summer the uninsulated home is hot, often warmer than outdoors.

By introducing insulation into the construction of roofs or uppermost ceilings, the enclosing walls, and floors beneath which there are no heated basements, a prospective home builder is insuring against excessive heat loss. Experts say that the well-insulated house requiress less heat, in some instances may reflect a saving in the original cost of heating equipment, and should reduce the annual amount of fuel required.

Shade Trees Are Desirable

Builders of new homes will find it advisable to set aside a small sum of money for a sizeable shade tree, land planning officials say.

It was suggested that the home owner go to a reputable nurseryman and select a tree of a hardy, long-lived variety which will add permanent value to the property. The owner should avoid one that will grow so rapidly as to be seriously injured by the first wind or ice storm, or one whose roots will come to the surface and injure lawns or will clog sewer lines. Some hardy trees are naturally low-branched or cast dense shade and, if used, should be placed where they will not interfere with lawns, driveways, and walks.

Sidewalks Are Valuable Asset

Sidewalks are more than just a convenience for the individual. They are a neighborhood asset.

Sidewalks provide a dignified, comfortable, and safe thoroughfare for walking to the shopping centers, to bus stops, and to other neighborhood objectives.

Land Planning experts believe that wider roadways—the usual alternative to sidewalks—are a poor substitute in that they are neither so attractive nor so convenient.

Another point in favor of sidewalks is that they offer a place for children to operate their wheeled toys in safety. Many of the serious traffic casualties have resulted from children skating or coasting into automobiles or trucks.

PROPER DECORATION MAKES ANY HOUSE ATTRACTIVE, LIVABLE

Behind old faded wallpaper lie four sturdy walls of unusual possibilities. Beneath cracked, scarred paint is woodwork of handsome design. Under worn, shabby, or old-fashioned decorations of many old houses is a modern, attractive home, needing only the proper treatment to make the transformation.

Interior decoration is one of the most important factors in the home. Proper, tasteful decoration alone creates an atmosphere of comfort, restfulness, and cheer. Without it, a house is but a poor excuse for a home—simply four bare walls, uninteresting and unromantic.

Interior decoration is always a good investment, for it not only makes the home more livable, but increases its value.

Styles in interior decoration change with the years, and every home offers different problems and opportunities for interior beautification. Every home is different, every room is different.

The attic, with insulation, a bit of decorative wall board and an attractive floor treatment, may be made as comfortable a bedroom, den, or playroom as can be desired.

Ugly bedrooms may be made restful and attractive with suitable color schemes. Badly proportioned rooms may be given the effect of good proportions with shelves, a change in the entrance, a new window, or perhaps only with wall paper of the proper design.

Greater beauty may be achieved by refinishing the floors or laying new permanent coverings.

The old-fashioned kitchen, with an antique ice-box, clumsy stove, inadequate storage space, makeshift appliances, colorless accessories, dance-hall floor, and undecorated walls, is now outmoded. Kitchens are now beautiful, cheerful places. With their colorful and serviceable linoleums, walls, and equipment, they no longer spell drudgery for the housewife.

Bathrooms, like kitchens, have vacated the realm of pure utility and now appear garbed in all the colors of the rainbow.

Even the basement may be remodeled and decorated for use as a recreation room.

Such redecorating not only increases and protects the value of the home but it also creates a better environment for the family.

Contractors See It As One Of Best Ever

Basing their predictions on building valuations nearly double those of the first two months of last year, contractors and building supply dealers today voiced the opinion that 1941 would go down "as one of the best" in the city's history.

Although January and February are regarded by builders as poor construction months, building valuations for the two-month period not yet closed have already topped the $300,000 mark, and may even go higher before the end of this week.

Paced by a $200,000 Westinghouse warehouse permit, building valuations so far this year total $300,325 an increase of $138,650 above the $161,675 valuation figure recorded during the first two months of 1940.

Contractors see the pace set during the past two months continuing throughout 1941 as the government goes forward with its national defense program spurring industry and putting men back to work.

They predict already that the $1,798,337 valuation figure set last year will be surpassed this year.

Backing up these predictions is a continued wave of home building the past two years that carried over into the first two months of 1941.

So far this year a total of 18 new residences have been started at a total cost of $85,000 as compared to the 15 homes built at the cost of $65,150 during the corresponding period in 1940.

At this rate new homes constructed in Mansfield during the coming year are expected to top the record figure established last year.

During 1940, the best residential construction year in the city's history, a total of 267 new homes were built, the total cost amounting to $1,439,100.

Winter Painting Has Own Rules

Where paint is to be applied to new homes during winter, painters are advised to make sure that the materials to be painted are dry. Where the painting is on the interior, heat should be maintained to assure continued drying.

All millwork to be painted should be primed before installation. In painting new plaster, the temperature should not be too high or otherwise blisters may develop.

Exterior painting should not be done if the surface of the materials are damp or wet within, immediately after rain, during rain or snow, or if rainy or freezing weather is threatening. Oil paints may be safely applied at temperatures above 40 degrees F. Other kinds of coatings with rapidly evaporating thinners should be applied at higher temperatures.

Exterior painting should follow the sun, and work should cease early in the afternoon if cold nights are expected. Even at the temperature of 40 degrees F., painting work should not be undertaken when the temperature may take a sudden drop below freezing.

BUDGET TIME

A few minutes a day spent in washing window sills, window frames, baseboards, and other dust-catching wooden surfaces with soap and water are worth hours of work crowded into a single day. Keeping things clean rather than making them clean is one of the secrets of an orderly, well-run home.

O.P.S. Displays 1941 Ranges

Today, at the Ohio Public Service company sales representatives and officials are pointing out the modern streamline styling, many convenience features of the new 1941 Westinghouse electric ranges now on display.

There are some people who still wrongly fear that electric cooking may be slow or expensive, Orlo L. Smith, sales supervisor pointed out. Actually, the new heating units in these modern ranges will cook food as fast as it can be cooked and the ovens, for example, use current only 9 minutes out of the hour to maintain average baking and roasting temperatures.

Women who are contemplating "going modern" this year and switch to electric cooking are invited to inspect the new 1941 line of Westinghouse ranges and other appliances at the company's sales room.

Named Agents For Insulator

The Bonded Insulation Sales company, 79 N. Diamond street, has been appointed sole Inselbric applicators and distributors in Richland and surrounding counties.

With the opening of their new display rooms, they are now able to serve all frame home owners with advice concerning the veneering of their homes. Inselbric, is a brick design siding with a center of Celotex.

H. Slain, manager of the Bonded Insulation Sales company, will be glad to talk over your home insulation problems with those interested.

Weather-Seal Sash Wins Favor

Home owners recommend Weather-Seal combination storm sash and screens for three reasons. M. E. Madden, local manager for Weather-Seal, Inc., pointed out, —because they cut down fuel costs, keep dirt and do double duty summer and winter.

Weather-Seal storm sash is claimed to save up to one-third on fuel consumption during the winter, while women report that their cleaning burden is reduced by installation of storm sash.

Weather-Seal plays another economy role, too, in that the sash are interchangeable and may be used for screens in the summer, Mr. Madden said.

Telephone Wiring Concealed Inside and Out

Telephone wires are concealed by bringing them under ground from the pole to the house, and then between the partitions to the room where the telephone is to be located. This modern way of wiring makes a tremendous improvement in both the outside and inside appearance of the house.

Today's building methods, however, often block the spaces in the walls and under floors, and make it impossible to conceal wires after the house is built.

The answer is, conduit placed in the walls during construction, to allow wires to be drawn through later.

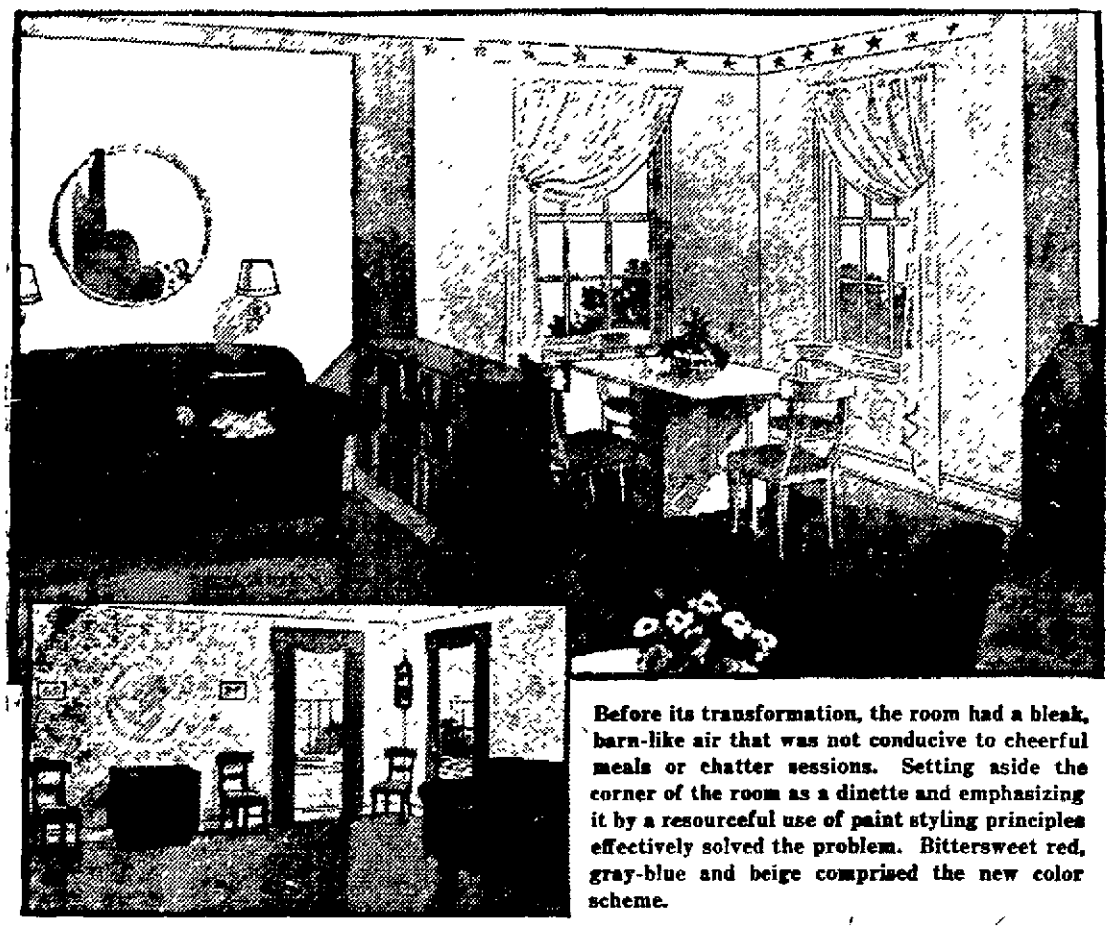
Partitioning With Paint Offers Novelty



Before its transformation, the room had a bleak, barn-like air that was not conducive to cheerful meals or chatter sessions. Setting aside the corner of the room as a dinette and emphasizing it by a resourceful use of paint styling principles effectively solved the problem. Bittersweet red, gray-blue and beige comprised the new color scheme.

Realtors Plan Industry Survey

A rapid survey to sketch out the totals of industrial space of various specific types now available for plant expansion in each of the principal production centers of the United States will be made by the Society of Industrial Realtors, now professional branch of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Walter S. Schmidt, Cincinnati, president of the Society, announced today that the survey will cover such detail as, for example, the number of square feet now available in one-story structures and in multiple-story structures, the square-foot totals available in these various types of structures that are sprinkled, that have track facilities, that have dock facilities, and the like.

Covering every city in which the society has members, the study, outlined by the governing council at its initial meeting in Chicago, will be in charge of its vice presidents for the principal industrial districts of the country.

PROLONG LIFE

Sheets, tablecloths, napkins, and similar household linens which are washed and ironed regularly each week can be given longer life if they are folded and pressed differently from time to time. Fabrics tend to wear thin if they are always folded in the same way. Instead of always folding into halves, quarters, etc., work out a variety of ways to fold articles so that the creases will not come in the same places for several successive weeks.

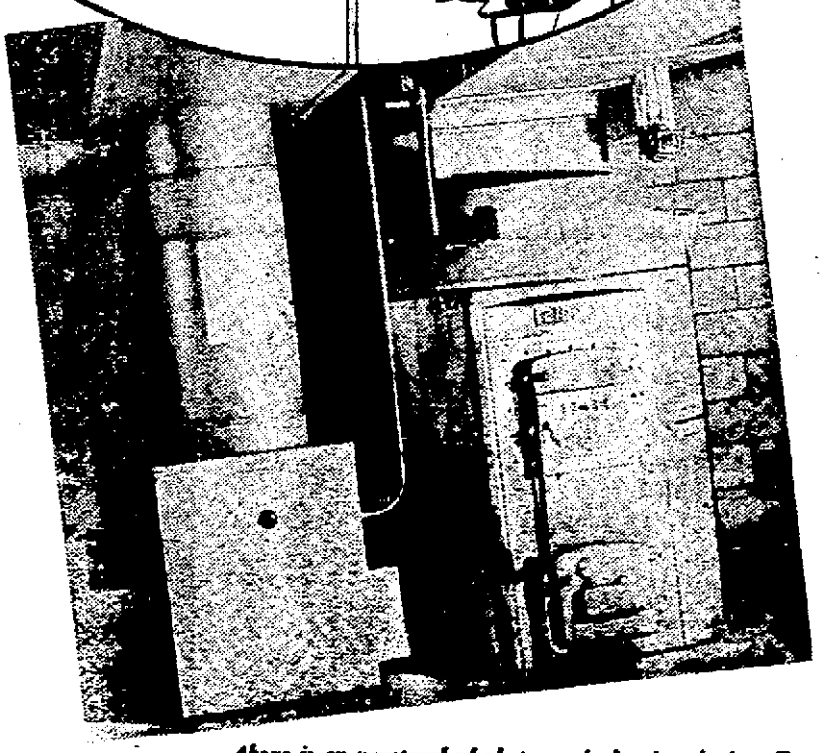
ELIMINATE CHILLY DRAFTS
IT'S SAFE TO PLAY ON THE FLOOR NOW
KEEP YOUR HOME CLEANER
I HAVEN'T HAD TO WASH MY CURTAINS ONCE THIS WINTER

● You'll be surprised at the greater comfort and the economy that an inexpensive blower-filter unit makes possible. By gently circulating heated air through your home, a blower-filter units eliminates drafts . . . makes it unnecessary for you to heat the air near the ceiling as high as 85 degrees in order to provide comfort at chair level.

● Such a unit will also eliminate the dust and dirt that is constantly circulating through your home under ordinary conditions . . . but perhaps best of all is the fact that a blower-filter unit will definitely increase your furnace efficiency as much as 25 per cent, depending on the present condition of your heating system. It won't cost you a cent to find out whether your present heating system can be modernized economically with a blower-filter unit.

● Just call one of the dealers listed below and have him examine your present furnace and give you an estimated cost for bringing comfort, convenience, and economy to your home. Remember, in fuel and cleaning costs alone, a blower-filter unit can pay its entire cost in a short time. NOW is the time to modernize your heating system. Call your dealer today.



Above is an unretouched photograph showing the installation of a modern blower-filter unit on an existing furnace. Note its compactness . . . how small a space it requires.
